

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My process of PhD has seen sometime happiness of achievement and many times disappointment of several kinds including data availability and literature support. This task needed lots of patience and I am thankful to God for making right people available at right time to make this process finally complete. It had been more than five years of process of PhD is not possible without contribution of right people at the right time. I am indebted to all of them for their constant encouragements and mentoring. Only my single handed efforts can never make this report without contribution of several persons at different stages of my PhD. My sincere confession is that this report would have never seen the light of day unless following persons not have been there for their timely help and support.

At the outset I sincerely wish to acknowledge and express my deep sense of gratitude to my Supervisor Prof. K. Sai Haragopal (Retired Professor), Economics Department, Osmania University and my Co-supervisor Dr. Nandita Sethi, (Senior Faculty), Institute of Public Enterprise; for their extraordinary cooperation, invaluable guidance and supervision. This thesis is the result of their painstaking and generous attitude.

I sincerely thank Indian Council of Social Science Research for awarding me ICSSR Teacher Doctoral Fellowship with full pay protection for two years that helped in timely completion of thesis. I am grateful to Prof. R. K. Mishra Director, IPE and Dr. Jayashree Ravindran, Research Coordinator and all the faculty and staff for the support during fellowship.

I thank Sri. Hariprasad G. Badruka, Hon. Secretary, Badruka Education Society and Prof. P. Pinaka Pani, Director of BCPGC, Hyd for encouraging me to take up ICSSR Fellowship and granting me two year study leave for my PhD. I express my sincere gratitude to Ms. Punam Saraf from Badruka Education Society for her needful support.

From Dept Economics, Mumbai University, I thank Prof. Abhay Pethe, Prof. Avdhoot Nadkarni and Prof. Romar Correa, for their valuable comments and special thanks to Prof. Neeraj Hatekar for his help in analysis of data and help in R. I thank late Prof. M J Manohar Rao for contribution to my understanding of Economics. Thanking Prof. Errol D'souza (presently with IIM-A) for taking pains to teach me math eco and to Prof. Burange, Prof. Bhalachandra Mungekar and Dr. Narendra Jadhav (Planning Commission) for their helps. I thank Prof. L.M. Bhole, Prof. Pushpa Trivedi from IIT-Bombay for their comments. I sincerely thank Dr. Smruti Bulsari from Gujarat for help in software R.

I am deeply indebted to A. Madasami, Central Public Information Office, Reserve Bank of India (RBI) for replying my Right to Information (RTI) query with most needed and relevant data on FDI in Banks without which PhD on this topic for me would have been just impossible. I thank Dr. Subir Gokharam, Dy. Governor, RBI for his comments on the topic. I am thankful to Prof. T.T. Ram Mohan, IIM-A for his valuable comments on my work and assuring me that my work is on right direction when I was losing hopes. I am thankful to Prof. M. Jayadev, IIM-B for making me think deeply about functioning of banking from investment angle. I am thankful to Dr. N.C. Pradhan and Dr. Snehal Harwadkar, Officers of RBI for their support in providing me all possible literatures and books on my study. I am thanking Ms. Joshi, librarian, RBI for cooperation at RBI library for more than a month. I thank Mr. Bipin Deokar, and Mrs. Piyusha Desai-Hukeri; Editors of Economics and Political Weekly for their valuable suggestions. I thank Ms. Jayashree Menon, Economist, Indian Bank's Association for providing relevant data for my research. I thank Prof. Paromita Dasgupta, ASCI-Hyd for her comments and making ASCI library available to me. I thank Prof. Naresh Bodkhe, Gokhale School of Economics and Politics, Pune for his suggestions and motivation. I am thankful to Prof. Subhash Ray, USA for his explanation of DEA at Mumbai University.

I would like to express my special thanks to Prof. G. Rama Krishna (Prof, Economics), Koti Women's College, Hyd. for constant support and for his valuable comments as a discussant. My thanks are extended to Prof. Muralidhar Rao (HoD) and Prof. Laxmaiah (BoS) for their encouragement and also to Prof. Indrakant, Late Prof. Upendra, Prof. T L N Swamy, Prof. S.K. Rao, Prof. Shiva Reddy, Prof. Venakteshwarlu, Prof. Pratap Reddy, Prof. Sudhakar Reddy, Dr. Daisy and all the teaching and non-teaching staff of Economics Department of Osmania University for their help and cooperation.

I thank Prof. Pannalal and Prof. Dr. Vedachalam, Ex-Directors of BCPGC for encouragement to pursue PhD. I thank Dr. M. Rajeshwari, HoD, BCPGC for her required help in the process. I am thanking all my friends and PhD co-scholars Swati Mathur, Ms. Sushma Patrick, Rakhee Renapurkar, J. Jayaprada, H. Radhika, Snehita Srivastava, Rajini, Shilpa Reddy, Priya Nikkula, Swetha Reddy Laila Nembdani, Irfana, Shilpa Roy, Maschendra Goud, Hema Malini, Jayashree Venkatesh for their help and support. Also thanking all the staff of Badruka College for their concern and help.

I owe and respectfully offer my thanks to my noble parents- Mrs. Kusum and Mr. Shantaram Karbhari Patil-Gaikwad for their constant moral support and mellifluous affection that helped me to achieve success in every sphere of life and without their kind devotion this thesis would have been a sheer dream. I also thank my in laws Prof. Dr. Pralhad Dake (Rtd.Professor-Sanskrit,OU and Late Mrs. Laxmibai Dake for their blessings to complete PhD and every aspect of my family life. I am thankful to my siblings Dattaprasad and Sangeeta for their affectionate support. My remembrance and thanks to my beloved late younger brother Jayadeep; whose extraordinary love in education was a guiding force. I thank my sister in law

Mrs. Priyanka Gaikwad and my brother in law Mr. Satish Jadhav for their support and respect for education. I thank my nieces Sachi, Pavitra and nephew Sanath for bringing joy to me in the stressful moments. I would also extend my special thanks to my brother in laws and sister in laws, nephews for their humour and support. I thank all our pet dogs and cats - Guntya, Pintu, Junu and Gabdul whose unconditional love was just a stress buster during this period. I thank my girl Montu (Archana) for her valuable support, love and understanding during my study period.

I owe my sincere thanks to my husband Mr. Arvind Dake for his valuable suggestions from his experience of Banking, untiring support and his affection helped me to complete my work in time. I am humbled with the help received during my research, although the acknowledgement is exhaustive, once again, I sincerely acknowledge the efforts of all those who have directly or indirectly helped me in completing my thesis successfully. It is the kindness of these acknowledged persons that this thesis sees the light of the day. I submit this thesis of mine with great humility and utmost regard.

(Mrs. Jayashree Patil-Dake)