ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

To start with, I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to my research supervisor, Dr. Manju Singh, Deptt. of History, Bundelkhand University, Bundelkhand, for her able guidance, and for providing me with her invaluable insights.

I am also thankful to Professor Aparna Basu, President, All India Women's Conference, New Delhi, Dr. Sanghmittra, Deputy Director (Research), ICHR and Dr. Lata Singh, Deptt. of History, Maitreyei College, University of Delhi, for their kind help in the form of making available to me important source material for writing this thesis.

I also feel deeply obliged to Shri M. A. Farooqi, Assistant Director (Library), ICHR and to the authorities and staff of the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, New Delhi, for extending their cooperation by making readily available various books and records for my use.

Above all, my deep feelings of indebtedness are also due to my parents, wife and daughter who extended their full cooperation to me and patiently bore with me, particularly during periods when I was so deeply involved in writing this thesis that I could not pay much attention to my family and home.

Last, but not the least, my sincere thanks are also due to the ICHR for having extended to me the Study Grant facility.
