

Andrewartha HG and Birch LC. The distribution and abundance of animals, Chicago University Press, 1954.

BirdLife International. Threskiornis melanocephalus. The IUCN Red List of Threatened Species 2016.

Champion SH, Seth SK. A revised survey of the forest types of India. A revised survey of the forest types of India. 1968.

Choudhury A. Status of Oriental White Ibis Threskiornis melanocephalus in Assam with notable recent records. Indian BIRDS 7(6), 163 2012.

Elgar MA. Predator vigilance and group size in mammals and birds. Biological Review 64, 13-33, 1989.

Hutchinson GE. Homage to Santa Rosalia, or why are there so many kinds of animals? American Naturalist 93, 145–159, 1959.

Kushlan JA. The significance of plumage colour in the formation of feeding aggregation of Cooiiforms. The Ibis 119, 361-364, 1977c.

Padmanabhan P, Yom-Tov Y. Breeding season and clutch size of Indian passerines. Ibis 142, 75–81, 2000.

Sharma IM. Roost site of birds around Jodhpur. Newsletters for Birdswatchers 13, 8-9, 1983.

Subramanya S. Heronries of Tamil Nadu. Indian Birds 1, 126-140, 2005.

Williams GC. Natural selection, the costs of reproduction, and a refinement of Lack’s principle. American Naturalist 100, 687-690, 1966.

