Acknowledgements

It would not have been possible to write this thesis without the help and support of many people. I wish to express my sincere appreciation to those who have contributed to this thesis and supported me during this amazing journey. My heartfelt thanks goes to:

Prof. R. Kishore Kumar, for his constant encouragement, patience and unrelenting support especially during the difficult conceptual stage. His eye for detail has helped me at various stages of my research. I feel very fortunate to have an opportunity to work under his guidance. There would not have been someone better than him to guide me in the course of this research.

Prof. Sudhakar, a member of my advisory committee, for his willingness to meet me at short notice every time and for helping me during my course work. He is an inspiration.

Prof. Anand Mahanand, a member of my advisory committee for his ever welcoming nature and help.

Prof. Mohan Raj, member of my advisory committee, for his valuable guidance, encouragement and for helping me with my research design and research tools in the initial stages of this research.

Prof. Geeta Durairajan, without whom, it wouldn’t have been possible for me to even start my study. I am thankful to her for introducing me to testing.

Prof. Paul Gunashekar for introducing me to the concepts of curriculum and syllabus designing. He merits a special mention for his grandeur of thoughts and speech. Dr. Upendran for the valuable discussions and for explaining me the significance of precision in research.
Prof. Amaliraj for her support and her guidance during my M.Phil which helped me understand research better. Prabakar Babu, Raj Gopal, Veda Sharan, Jayashree Mohan Raj, Maya Pandit, Chanchala K. Naik for their valuable lectures and Revathi Srinivas for helping me during my course work.

Pallavi and Lakshmi for helping me with the paper work and for constantly reminding me of deadlines, schedules and events.

The Librarian N. Satish and staff members of Ramesh Mohan Library who have been indispensable. Besides, I should not forget to acknowledge the financial, academic and technical support extended by the university and its staff.

Sagar for his amazing services and for remaining as a place for fun, food and laughter.

Adrian Tenent, for the workshop on CCE which had got me think in the lines of pursuing research in this area.

All the teachers of Kendriya Vidyalaya for sparing their valuable time especially, Anuradha, Sushma, Sesha, Lilly Josheph, Anita and Geeta who have welcomed me into their classes and cooperated with me in completing my field work.

Words cannot express the feelings I have for my parents for their continuous support and unconditional love. I am forever indebted to my parents, O. Ranga Rao and Vijaya Laxmi, for giving me this beautiful life. I dedicate this milestone to them.

My in-laws V. Narayana Swamy and Ahalya Devi, for showering their blessings on me. Your absence is always felt.

I would like to thank my husband, Nagender, for his unremitting encouragement. Thank you dear for constantly believing that I can do anything and for making me more than what I could imagine to be. You have been a constant source of strength and inspiration that ultimately made it possible for me to see this project through to the end. Thank you for the number of proof readings that you have done.

I would like to acknowledge the most important person in my life, my son, Akshath, for his unconditional love, for bearing my absence and for being so understanding from the beginning. You have made my life beautiful and complete. Thank you dear for helping me with my graphs and tables which have made this thesis come alive.

This journey would not have been this easy if not for my sisters, Padma, Krishna and Shanti who are my support system. They selflessly encouraged me to explore new directions in life and seek my own destiny. Ravindra, Prasad and Ravi Kiran for their constant support and the wonderful times and for keeping my support system intact.

Amalya and Bhanu for the love and joy they have showered on me. Ananth, for your immense love and the bond we share. Anurag and Anish for the love you share and the beautiful memories.

Aditya, Vikas, Sravani and Rahul and especially Swetha, with whom I have always felt an underlying thread of unity, for being my friend and such a wonderful human being.

Aashvi, who has been a bundle of joy, for your immense love and affection, Muskaan, for the love and fun times and Ayaan, who is the sweetest baby.

Satyawati and Krishnamurthy who wanted me to do so well in life and kept encouraging me at every juncture, they are dearly missed. Achamamba, Chantu, Rajeshwari, Mahendra Prasad, Sony, Kishore, Koteshwari, Keerthi, Khyati, Navya and family, for bearing my absence and for making your presence felt at all times. Sunitha, for being my friend over two decades and for the bond that we share. Suresh for his friendly gestures and Dhanush for being what he is and for his rapport with Akshath. I feel immensely happy as I see them grow.
My time at EFL-University was made enjoyable in large part due to the many friends that became a part of my life. Most importantly I am grateful for time spent with Manoj without whom I would not have reached till this stage. Thank you dear for coming into my life and for bearing all my nonsense, and for being there for me whenever I needed. Thank you for taking the pain of proofreading even in busy schedule.

Satish, my friend for life, I admire your honesty and the firm faith in what you do. Thank you for your valuable suggestions and proofreading.

Spoorthi, Nikhil and Hridhanshika for the sweet moments and happy days we spent together.

Ratnakshi, Manish, Deepak, Deeksha, Thambi, Bhoopati and Jyothi for the happy times that had filled my life with many lovely memories.

Vijayasree, for patiently listening to my queries and for your companionship which perennially charged me up during the last two years.

Vasu and Prudhvi for your support and help in the initial stages of trying to join EFLU.

Supriya, Praveen Kumar Patel, Suman, Sushma, Nagendra, Narendra, Nitin, Vinay,, Delina, Vedasree, Praveen Raj, Shankar, Ganesh, Ravi, I am glad I met you all.

Finally, to Sundeep, for being who you are and for not changing a bit. You have constantly been my reason to believe.

I thank everyone else whose name slips my mind but are no less important to me.

Kranthi Priya
