ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe my deep and sincere gratitude to my thesis supervisor, Dr. (Mrs.) Mithilesh Verma who has always been a source of inspiration and encouragement for me. Inspite of her very busy schedule she patiently supervised my work. Her genuine care and valuable suggestions enriched my work. I consider myself fortunate enough to work under her sage guidance.

Deep appreciation goes to Dr. (Mrs.) Nutan Vohra, Lecturer, Department of Psychology, A.N.D.N.M.M.M., Kanpur for her sincere guidance and constructive comments at every stage of my work. I am also grateful to Mr. Ashok Vohra for his genuine help and assistance in statistical analysis with the help of computer.

I would like to express my gratitude to Mr. S.N. Hans and all those institutions/organizations for granting me permission to collect data. A special note of thanks to Mr. S.D.K. Tripathi for extending his help in consulting the Central Library, I.I.T., Kanpur.

I am indebted to my mother-in-law, father-in-law who kept me free from household responsibilities and always motivated me to for this work. It was because of their sincere support and co-operation that I could complete this thesis.

I take this opportunity to owe my sincere gratitude to my parents, especially my brothers Mr. Devendra and Mr. Jitendra and sister Mrs. Beena Negi who were of constant support to me. A special thanks to all my relatives especially Mr. B.S. Bisht, Neelam Bisht, Gyatri Bisht and dear friend Mrs. Sunita Rawat who encouraged and supported me throughout this venture.
Deepest appreciation goes to my husband Mr. Subodh Singh Aswal and children Sonali and Saurabh for their unstinting patience and devoted support. Their immense love and sincere devotion was a source of inspiration for me.

A special thanks to Mr. Ram Basant Pratap Vishwakarma for computer typing, cyclostyling and binding of this manuscript.

SEEMA ASWAL