List of Tables

Table 2.1 Details of sample collection onboard FORV Sagar Sampada (Cruise No. 266)........................................................ 25
Table 3.1 ARDRA profile of representative bacterial isolates using restriction enzymes Taq1 and HaeIII ......................... 95
Table 3.2 NCBI BLAST results of bacterial strains isolated from shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............ 102
Table 3.3 Diversity indices of culturable heterotrophic bacteria present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................................117
Table 4.1 ARDRA profile of representative actinomycete isolates using restriction enzymes Taq1, HaeII and Sau3A1 ............ 160
Table 4.2 NCBI BLAST results of actinomycete strains isolated from shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............ 168
Table 4.3 Diversity indices of culturable actinomycete present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .......... 178
Table 5.1 ARDRA profile of representative fungal isolates using restriction enzymes Taq1, Hinfl, Sdu1 and Cfo1...............213
Table 5.2 NCBI BLAST results of fungal strains isolated from shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................. 220
Table 5.3 Diversity indices of culturable fungi present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..................232
Table 6.1 ARDRA profile of representative yeast isolates using restriction enzymes Taq1 and Hinfl ................................. 269
Table 6.2 NCBI BLAST results of yeast strains isolated from shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................. 277
Table 6.3 Diversity indices of culturable yeast present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............... 284
Table 7.1 Diversity indices of microflora present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ...................312
Table 7.2  Pearson correlation analysis between environmental variables and microflora inhabiting the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................. 321

Table 7.3  BIO-ENV analyses indicating which of the measured environmental parameters best explain the community pattern in shelf sediments ..................................................................323

Table 7.4  Results of Principal Component Analysis (PCA) .................. 325
List of Figures

Figure 1.1 Universal phylogenetic tree, with branching orders based upon rRNA sequence comparisons ...............................06

Figure 2.1 Location of sampling stations in the study area .........................26

Figure 2.2 Smith McIntyre grab used for sediment sampling ....................27

Figure 2.3 CTD Sampling device ..............................................................27

Figure 2.4 Transect wise temperature profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................34

Figure 2.5 Depth wise temperature profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................34

Figure 2.6 Map showing the temperature profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................35

Figure 2.7 Transect wise salinity profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................36

Figure 2.8 Depth wise salinity profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................36

Figure 2.9 Map showing the salinity profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................37

Figure 2.10 Transect wise dissolved oxygen profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................38

Figure 2.11 Depth wise dissolved oxygen profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................38

Figure 2.12 Map showing the dissolved oxygen profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................39

Figure 2.13 Transect wise pH profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................40

Figure 2.14 Depth wise pH profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................40

Figure 2.15 Map showing the pH profile along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................41

Figure 2.16 Sediment texture at the 50 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................42

Figure 2.17 Sediment texture at the 100 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................43
Figure 2.18 Sediment texture at the 200 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................43

Figure 2.19 Ternary plots showing the distribution of silt, clay and sand at 50, 100 and 200 m depth regions in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..........................44

Figure 2.20 Distribution of organic carbon along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ........................................46

Figure 2.21 Distribution of organic carbon within the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..............................46

Figure 2.22 Distribution of organic matter along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal..........................47

Figure 2.23 Distribution of organic matter within the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal..........................47

Figure 2.24 Map showing the distribution of organic matter along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..............48

Figure 2.25 Percentage of Total Carbon (TC) present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .............................49

Figure 2.26 Percentage of Total Hydrogen (TH) present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................50

Figure 2.27 Percentage of Total Nitrogen (TN) present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..............................50

Figure 2.28 Percentage of Total Sulphur (TS) present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ...............................51

Figure 2.29 Concentration of total protein present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .........................53

Figure 2.30 Three dimensional plot showing the distribution of total protein present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .........................................................53

Figure 2.31 Concentration of total carbohydrates present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................54

Figure 2.32 Three dimensional plot showing the distribution of total carbohydrates present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .........................................................54

Figure 2.33 Concentration of total lipid present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..............................55
Figure 2.34  Three dimensional plot showing the distribution of total lipid present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................ 55

Figure 2.35  Concentration of total protein, carbohydrate and lipid present in the 50 m depth of shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................ 56

Figure 2.36  Concentration of total protein, carbohydrate and lipid present in the 100 m depth of shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................ 56

Figure 2.37  Concentration of total protein, carbohydrate and lipid present in the 200 m depth of shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................ 57

Figure 2.38  Distribution of biopolymeric carbon fraction along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..................... 57

Figure 2.39  Biopolymeric carbon fraction present at different depths along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal  ................................................................................. 58

Figure 2.40  Bacterial density (total count) in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................. 59

Figure 2.41  Bacterial density (total count) at different depth regions in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................ 59

Figure 2.42  ATP (microbial biomass proxy) in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................. 61

Figure 2.43  ATP (microbial biomass proxy) in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................. 61

Figure 3.1  Total heterotrophic bacterial population present in shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..................... 90

Figure 3.2  Total heterotrophic bacterial population at various depths (50, 100 and 200 m) in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal  ................................................................................. 90

Figure 3.3  Map showing the distribution of culturable heterotrophic bacterial population in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................ 91

Figure 3.4  Distribution of Gram-positive and Gram-negative heterotrophic bacteria population in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..................... 92
Figure 3.5 Agarose gel electrophoresis (1.5%) of PCR amplified 16S rRNA gene of bacteria in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..............................................92

Figure 3.6 ARDRA patterns of TaqI restriction on 16S rDNA amplicons of bacterial isolates ..................................................94

Figure 3.7 ARDRA patterns of HaeIII restriction on 16S rDNA amplicons of bacterial isolates .................................................94

Figure 3.8 Dendrogram of gram positive isolates constructed based on ARDRA patterns developed by TaqI and HaeIII ....................96

Figure 3.9 Dendrogram of gram negative isolates constructed based on ARDRA patterns developed by TaqI and HaeIII.................................................................96

Figure 3.10 Distribution of different phylotypes identified along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..........103

Figure 3.11 Distribution of different phylotypes identified at various depths of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................................103

Figure 3.12 Distribution of different phylotypes identified within 50 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................................104

Figure 3.13 Distribution of different phylotypes identified within 100 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................................104

Figure 3.14 Distribution of different phylotypes identified within 200 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................................105

Figure 3.15 Percentage contribution of different bacterial species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..........106

Figure 3.16 Percentage contribution of different bacterial species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 50 m depth.................................................................107

Figure 3.17 Percentage contribution of different bacterial species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 100 m depth.................................................................108

Figure 3.18 Percentage contribution of different bacterial species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 200 m depth.................................................................109
Figure 3.19 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among Firmicutes isolated from the 50 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal. ..........................111

Figure 3.20 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among Firmicutes isolated from the 100 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal........................112

Figure 3.21 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among Firmicutes isolated from the 200 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal..........................113

Figure 3.22 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among gram negative bacteria isolated from the 50 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal...............................................................114

Figure 3.23 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among gram negative bacteria isolated from the 100 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal...............................................................115

Figure 3.24 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among gram negative bacteria isolated from the 200 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal...............................................................116

Figure 3.25 Bubble plots showing the distribution of some of the important species identified from the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .........................................................123

Figure 3.26 Dendrogram based on bacterial community recorded at various stations in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................................124

Figure 3.27 k-dominance curve at the three depth classes .........................125

Figure 4.1 Culturable actinomycete population present in shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .........................................................154
Figure 4.2 Culturable actinomycete population at various depths (50, 100 and 200 m) in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................... 155

Figure 4.3 Map showing the distribution of culturable actinomycete population in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................................ 155

Figure 4.4 Agarose gel electrophoresis (1.5%) of PCR amplified 16S rRNA gene of bacteria in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 157

Figure 4.5 ARDRA patterns of Taq1 restriction on 16S rDNA amplicons of actinomycete isolates................................................................. 158

Figure 4.6 ARDRA patterns of HaeIII restriction on 16S rDNA amplicons of actinomycete isolates................................................................. 159

Figure 4.7 ARDRA patterns of Sau3A1 restriction on 16S rDNA amplicons of actinomycete isolates................................................................. 159

Figure 4.8 Dendrogram of actinomycete isolates constructed based on ARDRA patterns developed by Taq1, HaeIII and Sau3A1 ................................................................. 161

Figure 4.9 Distribution of different actinomycete genera identified along the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 162

Figure 4.10 Percentage contribution of different actinomycete genera identified within 50 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 163

Figure 4.11 Percentage contribution of different actinomycete genera identified within 100 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 163

Figure 4.12 Percentage contribution of different actinomycete genera identified within 200 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 164

Figure 4.13 Distribution of spore forming and non-spore forming actinomycetes isolated from the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 169

Figure 4.14 Distribution of spore forming and non-spore forming actinomycetes at various depths of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 170
Figure 4.15 Percentage contribution of different actinomycete species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal..............171

Figure 4.16 Percentage contribution of different actinomycete species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 50 m depth .................................................................172

Figure 4.17 Percentage contribution of different actinomycete species in the shelf sediments south western Bay of Bengal at 100 m depth ...........................................................172

Figure 4.18 Percentage contribution of different actinomycete species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 200 m depth ...........................................................173

Figure 4.19 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among actinomycete isolated from the 50 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal. ........................................175

Figure 4.20 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among actinomycete isolated from the 100 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal.................................176

Figure 2.21 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of 16S rRNA genes, showing the relationships among actinomycete isolated from the 200 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal.................177

Figure 4.22 Bubble plots showing the distribution of important species identified from the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal...........................................................184

Figure 4.23 Dendrogram based on actinomycete community recorded at various stations in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ......................................................185

Figure 4.24 k-dominance curve at the three depth classes ..............185

Figure 5.1 Total fungal population present in shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................208

Figure 5.2 Total fungal population at various depths (50, 100 and 200 m) in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..........................................................................................208

Figure 5.3 Map showing the distribution of culturable fungi in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................209
Figure 5.4 Agarose gel electrophoresis (1.5%) of PCR amplified ITS region of fungi in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................ 210

Figure 5.5 ARDRA patterns of Taq1 restriction on ITS amplicons of fungal isolates ........................................................................................................... 211

Figure 5.6 ARDRA patterns of Hinf1 restriction on ITS amplicons of fungal isolates ........................................................................................................... 211

Figure 5.7 ARDRA patterns of Sdu1 restriction on ITS amplicons of fungal isolates ........................................................................................................... 212

Figure 5.8 ARDRA patterns of Cfo1 restriction on ITS amplicons of fungal isolates ........................................................................................................... 212

Figure 5.9 Dendrogram of fungal isolates constructed based on ARDRA patterns developed by Taq1, Hinf1, Sdu1 and Cfo1 ........................................................................................................... 214

Figure 5.10 Percentage contribution of different fungi in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................. 216

Figure 5.11 Percentage contribution of different taxonomic classes in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................. 216

Figure 5.12 Percentage contribution of different taxonomic classes at 50 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................. 216

Figure 5.13 Percentage contribution of different taxonomic classes of fungi at 100 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................. 217

Figure 5.14 Percentage contribution of different taxonomic classes within 200 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................. 217

Figure 5.15 Percentage contribution of different fungal genera identified within the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................. 218

Figure 5.16 Percentage contribution of different fungal species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................. 221

Figure 5.17 Percentage contribution of different fungal species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 50 m depth ............................................................. 222
Figure 5.18 Percentage contribution of different fungal species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 100 m depth ................................................................. 222

Figure 5.19 Percentage contribution of different fungal species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 200 m depth ................................................................. 223

Figure 5.20 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of ITS, showing the relationships among fungi isolated from the 50 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 228

Figure 5.21 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of ITS, showing the relationships among fungi isolated from the 100 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 229

Figure 5.22 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of ITS, showing the relationships among fungi isolated from the 200 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 229

Figure 5.23 Bubble plots showing the distribution of important genera identified from the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 237

Figure 5.24 Dendrogram based on fungal community recorded at various stations in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 238

Figure 5.25 k-dominance curve at the three depth classes ................................................................. 238

Figure 6.1 Total yeast population present in shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 265

Figure 6.2 Total yeast population at various depths (50, 100 and 200 m) in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 265

Figure 6.3 Map showing the distribution of culturable yeast in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 266

Figure 6.4 Agarose gel electrophoresis (1.5%) of PCR amplified ITS of yeast in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 267

Figure 6.5 ARDRA patterns of Taq1 restriction on ITS amplicons of yeast isolates ................................................................. 268
Figure 6.6 ARDRA patterns of \textit{Hinf1} restriction on ITS amplicons of yeast isolates ........................................................................................................268

Figure 6.7 Dendrogram of yeast isolates constructed based on ARDRA patterns developed by \textit{Taq1} and \textit{Hinf1} .........................269

Figure 6.8 Percentage contribution of different yeast phyla in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..............271

Figure 6.9 Percentage contribution of different taxonomic classes of yeasts in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..............................................................................272

Figure 6.10 Percentage contribution of different taxonomic classes of yeasts identified within 50 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................272

Figure 6.11 Percentage contribution of different taxonomic classes of yeasts identified within 100 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..............................................273

Figure 6.12 Percentage contribution of different taxonomic classes at 200 m depth of the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................................273

Figure 6.13 Percentage contribution of pigmented and non-pigmented yeasts present in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .................................................................274

Figure 6.14 Distribution of pigmented and non-pigmented yeasts in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............274

Figure 6.15 Percentage contribution of different yeast genera inhabiting the shelf sediments of Bay of Bengal ..............275

Figure 6.16 Percentage contribution of different yeast species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ..........278

Figure 6.17 Percentage contribution of different yeast species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 50 m depth ..............................................................................279

Figure 6.18 Percentage contribution of different yeast species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 100 m depth ..............................................................................279

Figure 6.19 Percentage contribution of different yeast species in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal at 200 m depth ..............................................................................280
Figure 6.20 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of ITS region, showing the relationships among yeasts isolated from the 50 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal. ............................................... 281
Figure 6.21 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of ITS region, showing the relationships among yeasts isolated from the 100 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal. ........................................................................ 282
Figure 6.22 Neighbour-joining phylogenetic tree based on partial sequences of ITS region, showing the relationships among yeasts isolated from the 200 m depth region of south western Bay of Bengal................................................................. 283
Figure 6.23 Bubble plots showing the distribution of important yeast species identified from the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 289
Figure 6.24 Dendrogram based on yeast community recorded at various stations in the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ............................................................................... 290
Figure 6.25 k-dominance curve at the three depth classes .................. 290
Figure 7.1 Total number of microbial species identified from the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal .......... 313
Figure 7.2 Microbial species richness present in the shelf sediments as identified by PRIMER 6 software .............................................. 315
Figure 7.3. Microbial species evenness present in the shelf sediments as identified by PRIMER 6 software ...................... 315
Figure 7.4. Microbial species diversity present in the shelf sediments as identified by PRIMER 6 software ....................... 316
Figure 7.5. Microbial species dominance present in the shelf sediments as identified by PRIMER 6 software ......................... 316
Figure 7.6. Dendrogram based on microbial community recorded at various stations within the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ........................................................................ 317
Figure 7.7 MDS based on microbial community recorded at various stations within the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal ................................................................. 318
Figure 7.8 k-dominance curve at the three depth regions .................. 319
Figure 7.9  Pearson’s rank correlation map showing possible relationships among all of the investigated variables ..........322

Figure 7.10 Principal Component Analysis (PCA) ordination of environmental variables .........................................................324

Figure 7.11 Canonical Correspondence Analysis (CCA) showing relation of environmental variables with 4 most important microbial genera. .................................................................326

Figure 7.12 MDS based on protein, carbohydrate, lipid, biopolymeric carbon and total organic carbon in the shelf sediments establishing the regional demarcation..................................................328

Figure 7.13 Cluster analysis based on sediment protein and carbohydrate concentration classifying the shelf sediments of south western Bay of Bengal into oligotrophic inner shelf and eutrophic outer shelf ...............329
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Plate</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>2.1</td>
<td>Image showing epiflorescence bacterial count</td>
<td>60</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.1</td>
<td>ZoBell’s 2216e marine agar plate showing bacterial colonies</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.1</td>
<td>Starch Casein agar plate showing actinomycete colonies</td>
<td>153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2</td>
<td>Nutrient Agar plates showing morphology of actinomycete colonies with different spore masses</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3</td>
<td>Microscopic appearance of spore chain morphology of actinomycete isolates</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.1</td>
<td>Rose Bengal agar plate showing fungal colonies</td>
<td>209</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2</td>
<td>Macroscopic and Microscopic observation of some of the identified fungus</td>
<td>226</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.1</td>
<td>Malt extract agar plates showing yeast colonies</td>
<td>263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.2</td>
<td>Malt extract agar plates showing pigmented and non-pigmented yeasts isolated from the shelf sediments of Bay of Bengal</td>
<td>263</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.3</td>
<td>Microscopic view (100 x) of various marine yeast isolate</td>
<td>264</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Abbreviation</td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-------------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ANOVA</td>
<td>Analysis of variance</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ARDRA</td>
<td>Amplified Ribosomal DNA Restriction Analysis</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ATP</td>
<td>Adenosine Tri Phosphate</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BLAST</td>
<td>Basic Local Alignment Search Tool</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BPC</td>
<td>Biopolymeric Carbon</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CCA</td>
<td>Canonical Correspondence Analysis</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CFU</td>
<td>Colony Forming Units</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C/N</td>
<td>Carbon/ Nitrogen</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CHO</td>
<td>Carbohydrate</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CTD</td>
<td>Conductivity- Temperature- Depth</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DNA</td>
<td>Deoxyribonucleic Acid</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dNTP</td>
<td>Deoxyribonucleotide Triphosphate</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DO</td>
<td>Dissolved Oxygen</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>EDTA</td>
<td>Ethylenediaminetetraacetic acid</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FORV</td>
<td>Fishery and Oceanographic Research Vessel</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ITS</td>
<td>Internal Transcribed Spacer</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LPD</td>
<td>Lipid</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MDS</td>
<td>Multi Dimensional Scaling</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MEGA</td>
<td>Molecular Evolutionary Genetic Analysis</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MoES</td>
<td>Ministry of Earth Sciences</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MMB</td>
<td>Microbial Biomass</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NCBI</td>
<td>National Center for Biotechnology Information</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NJ</td>
<td>Neighbor-Joining</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>OMZ</td>
<td>Oxygen Minimum Zone</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PAST</td>
<td>Paleontological Statistics software package for Education and Data analysis</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Acronym</td>
<td>Description</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>---------</td>
<td>-------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PCA</td>
<td>Principal Component Analysis</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PCR</td>
<td>Polymerase Chain Reaction</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PRIMER</td>
<td>Plymouth Routines in Multivariate Ecological Research</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PRT</td>
<td>Protein</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>rRNA</td>
<td>Ribosomal Ribonucleic Acid</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SPSS</td>
<td>Statistical Programme for Social Sciences</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SD</td>
<td>Standard Deviation</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TAE</td>
<td>Tris-Acetate-EDTA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TBE</td>
<td>Tris-Borate-EDTA</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TC</td>
<td>Total carbon</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TCA</td>
<td>Trichloroacetic Acid</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TCHO</td>
<td>Total Carbohydrate</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TEN</td>
<td>Tris-EDTA-NaCl</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TH</td>
<td>Total Hydrogen</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THB</td>
<td>Total Heterotrophic Bacteria</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TLPD</td>
<td>Total Lipid</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TN</td>
<td>Total Nitrogen</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TOC</td>
<td>Total Organic Carbon</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TOM</td>
<td>Total Organic Matter</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TPRT</td>
<td>Total Protein</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TS</td>
<td>Total sulphur</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

...SOGR....