Acknowledgements

I express my sincere gratitude and profound respect to my research supervisor Dr. Sheela Prasad for her invaluable guidance, support and constant encouragement. She has been always approachable, helpful and extremely patient throughout my research career. I am quite fortunate to get such a supervisor. My deepest debt to her is for sparking my interest in the environmental studies field.

I indebted in each and every respect to Professor Dr. Daw Mi Mi Kyi (present Mead) and U Mya Thoung (the former Head) of the Department of Geography, University of Yangon, Dr. San Hla Thaw (Director General) and U Tun Lwin (Deputy Director) of Meteorology and Hydrology Department, Yangon, for their encouragement and constant cooperation.

I am extremely thankful to all the Administrative officers from Administration Block, the Dean of School of Social Sciences, Head of the Centre for Regional Studies, Wardens and Chief Warden, Supervisor of Foreign Students, all the Operators and Staff from Computer Centre, the staff from Centre for Regional Studies, University of Hyderabad for allowing me to avail the University facilities and for their kind assistance in various stages of my research.

I gratefully acknowledge the Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) as my sponsor and my benefactor, from the beginning to the end of my research. I heartfully give my thanks to the Government of India for offering me this great opportunity of scholarship to study in India.

I would like to give my heartfelt thanks to my dear friend, Sowjanya and Sujatha for patiently helping me in corrections and proof reading of my thesis. Thanks to all friends of Myanmar research students: Daw Hla Hla Htay, U Soe Win, U Tin Htwe, U Myo Thein Kyaw, U Chit Htay Lwin, U Kyaw Naing Soe, and U Ye Lwin Myint for helping me in Statistic calculations and computer processing works.
Last, but not the least, I have the greatest pleasure in expressing my great appreciation to my devoted husband for his financial and moral support and never hesitates to make any sacrifice for me. Thanks to my loving children who bear all the troubles cheerfully with high capability and never lose their hopes in my absence.

I have dedicated this small work to my beloved father, mother, and uncles. The greatest regret of my life is that I cannot repay them for all that they did for me, as they departed eternally from me just as I was bringing my thesis to a close.
