ABSTRACT

Sports activities are different kinds of physical activities, which aim to improve or maintain physical development or skills. These could be structured or casual. It is based on the physical dexterity of an individual. Sport is usually governed by a set of rules. Sports activities are different kinds of physical activities, which aim to improve or maintain physical development or skills. These could be structured or casual. It based on the physical dexterity of an individual. Sports have usually governed by a set of rules. Academic performance is the ability to learn or gain knowledge by the medium of books. It is the application of one’s mind either suggestively or spontaneously. It defined as vocabulary, vocabulary, understanding, audience, language, mathematics, social studies and science. Human development is an endless way of thinking, feelings, and behaviors. The method of ruling in the field of persona psychology today is that humanity comes from the pit and continues to change in useful ways throughout the life. In this study the term Personality Development of students constitutes of only Personal Values.