ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I take this opportunity to acknowledge my teacher and guide Dr. John M S, Professor, Department of Humanities and Social Sciences, Indian Institute of Technology, Madras, but for whose valuable guidance, scholarship and consistent assistance this research work would not have been possible. I thank him for the patience, tolerance and support with which he guided me throughout the study. I would like to thank Dr. Nirmala Devi, Director, School of Gandhian Thought and Development Studies, M.G. University for providing me freedom to utilise the services and resources of the school.

This study would not have been possible without the cooperation of the software companies in Infopark Kochi and Technopark Trivandrum and the many CEOs, HR managers, IT employees and their family members, in Kochi and Trivandrum who were patient enough to participate in our interviews. Anonymity to all participating companies and respondents has been promised as a precondition for conducting interviews. However, I would like to convey my gratitude to them through this report. My special thanks go to the key informants who provided a deeper insight into the problem.

I would like to thank each and everyone in Rajagiri College of Social Sciences for considering me a member of their family and for providing me the freedom to utilize the services and resources of the institution. I am greatly thankful to Rev. Fr. Jose Alex, Rev. Fr. Antony Kariyil, Rev. Fr. Prasanth, and Rev. Fr. Saju, Rev. Fr. Wilson, Dr. Joseph Injody, Dr. Mary Venus C. J, Dr. Sr. Pushpa, Mrs. Nycil and Mrs. Giji for their encouragement.

It would not have been possible for me to conduct and analyze my study without Dr. Sunanda’s guidance and useful suggestions on statistical applications.

A very special note of thanks to Mr. Jose who helped me in typing this work.
