ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

“When we become more fully aware that our success is due in large measure to the loyalty, helpfulness and encouragement we have received from others, our desire grows to pass on similar gifts. Gratitude spurs us on to prove ourselves worthy of what others have done for us. The spirit of gratitude is a powerful energizer”

– Wilfred A. Peterson

It is my bounden duty and also a great pleasure to acknowledge my indebtedness to all those who have contributed in several ways to the successful execution of this challenging research project. At outset I am indebted to the Almighty God, whose blessings, favour and grace have always created ways for me throughout my research.

Dr. Nagaraju Battu, my major advisor, and guru, thank you for giving me hope when I was in deep distress, you have a way of reviving my hope. You made it possible for me to obtain this Ph.D. You are truly one of a kind because it is very rare to find anybody that would do what you have done for me. Your outstanding knowledge about what you teach, and your ability to practice the pedagogy is an inspiration that will abide with me for life. You have inflicted upon me the act of devotion and care for students by your example. I promise to do the same wherever my destiny leads me.

Further I express my sincere gratitude to Prof. S. Vijaya Raju, Principal, University College of Arts, Commerce & Law, Prof. Noorbasha Abdul Vice-Principal, University College of Arts, Commerce & Law, Dr. Tulasi Das, Assistant Professor, Dr. K. Madhu Babu, Dr. M.R. Satyanarayana and Dr. V. Naga Nirmala, esteemed faculty, Department of HRM, Acharya Nagarjuna University for their constant encouragement, valuable remarks, bestowing very useful feedback and suggestions, which helped me to carry on my research efficiently and make substantial improvements in the final draft.

It is my privilege to express my sincere indebtedness and deep sense of gratitude to Dr. TD Vimala, Rtd. Principal, Govt Women’s College, thank you for driving me towards a fruitful research work. Your advice and collegiality I adore and shall emulate. Your teaching principles including clarity, structure, enthusiasm, humor, research-oriented, and much more-including your attention to details are talents that have made a permanent mark in my career. Thank you for all your candid advice. And I am also thankful to my valuable friend and well wisher Dr.Murali Krishna, Research Officer, Ambedkar Chair, Acharya Nagarjuna University, Librarians of Acharya Nagarjuna University, Andhra University, Vignan University, KL University, JNT University-Kakinada and Osmania University for the assistance rendered to me in collection of the material and data for the thesis.
I sincerely thankful to my good friend Mr. Prasad Chundi, whose cooperation and help during this research project is praiseworthy.

Further I express my deep sense of gratitude to the management and students of Vignan University, KL University, JNTU-Kakinada and Acharya Nagarjuna University for the yeoman service rendered during the collection of data for the research work. I am greatly indebted to them for their valuable help and suggestions and insightful comments on the manuscript. I am equally grateful to rest of the staff, who have been a source of constant encouragement and immense strength to me throughout the collection of the data.

Further I must also place on record my profound gratitude to my Wife Smt. M. Subhan Bee, with heart-felt sentiments and appreciation, who has been with me during some unforgettable difficult movements and situations, stood with me emotionally with utmost patience and sacrifice. And without her help I would not have successfully completed the research task. I am very much thankful to my children, Hussain babu, and Ummar babu who supported me and encouraged me in all my journey of this thesis even though I am away from the house they have adjusted and adopted the situation.

I am extremely indebted to all those scholars who have obliged suitable advice to me, observations and critical comments during doctoral consortiums, conglomerations, conferences and other useful formal and informal counters and encounters which enlightened and enshrined this research work to the maximum possible extent.

Last but not the least, my earnest obeisance and sincere thanks are due to all those who helped me patently and latently during this prodigious task and without whose contribution, the thesis would not have been completed successfully in time. Before epilogue, it is an apt to quote here the following buzz words:

"Thankfulness is the beginning of gratitude. Gratitude is the completion of thankfulness. Thankfulness may consist merely of words. Gratitude is shown in acts."

– Henri Frederic Amiel
