Acknowledgements

I would like to acknowledge first and foremost my Research Advisor Prof. Alladi Uma who has been supporting and encouraging me right from my student days to the present as a student colleague in the department. She has been my "true" teacher. She gives full freedom to her scholars in choosing and for arguing their topics in a fully democratic manner.

The important person in my life, my wife D. Mamtha has been patient enough in waiting for me and understanding my going home late the last two years. I have been on study leave for two years. She is my life. She is the first critic of my thesis, not in the sense of reading it but by constantly reminding me about my topic in our day-to-day quarrels and understanding. She has always been there with me.

After my wife Mamtha, it is my sweet son D. Vijaya Sai waiting for me to reach home to make me forget the strain of research in the department and enjoy his early growing days. It has been a pleasant recreation playing with him and relaxing through his naughty play and games.

Dr. M. Sridhar and Dr. K. Suneetha Rani have been my close friends in the department, sharing the pinch of my research, reading my thesis very patiently, giving suggestions and making this thesis what it is. I also thank Sridhar for offering me the use of his room and computer when I had no room of my own.

I am thankful to the following libraries: Indira Gandhi Memorial Library, Hyderabad, C.I.E.F.L library, Osmania University Library, City Central Library, and State Central Library, Hyderabad.
My colleagues from other departments such as K. Y. Ratnam, B. Nagarjuna, Tirumal, Rajasekhar, Sumant Dutt, Ravi, Ganeshan, Varadarajan, Murali Mojeswar Rao and Ramulu have been encouraging me to complete my thesis as early as possible.

My deep indebtedness to Sahitya Akademi, New Delhi for sending me the book Shevantibai M. Nikambe's Ratanbai in a short period of time, as this was one of the primary texts for my introductory chapter. My sincere thanks to Prof. Meenaksi Mukherjee for giving me the information about this book and its republication details under the editorship of Eunice de Souza.

I would like to thank the University of Hyderabad for sanctioning me Study Leave for two years, of course, with the great help and support of my own colleagues.

Prof. Mohan Ramanan has been constantly reminding me and encouraging me to complete my thesis early. I thank you, sir.

Prof. Sudhakar Marathe, Prof. Narayana Chandran, Prof. Sachidananda Mohanty, Prof. Syed Mujeebuddin, Dr. Hoshang Merchant, Dr. Afeefa Banu and Dr. Anna Kuriar James have been very much concerned about my completing the work as early as possible. I thank them for their concern.

I would like to thank Prof. P. Sailaja for offering me her room during her visit abroad on a fellowship.
I thank Dr. Pramod Nayar for lending me his personal copies of critical books related to my topic and his constant reminders of my lunch, "bus ab khaana Khale". Thanks for your concern.

I thank Dr. Anand Mahanand from CIEFL for lending his library cards and also borrowing books for me. Apart from that he had given me hospitality at his quarters whenever I visited the library.

I thank Mr. Nagarajan, Mr. Anand and Mr. Rajendra Prasad for helping me in revealing certain computer commands and never refusing me help so that I could type my thesis without any difficulty. I also thank Suresh and Chari for every help and support they have given me.
