When I was a student in the Institute of Archaeology, Archaeological Survey of India, New Delhi, I was privileged to be a participant in the Excavation training camp at Dholavira (famous Harappan site Gujarat) 1993 – 94. The well-built Indus valley citadel with ramparts of the northern and the eastern gateways attracted me very much since then I started having interest in fortifications. When I came to Kerala I was very fascinated by the two-coastal fortresses of St. Angelo and Bekal. The new findings in my periodical duty also made me take up this subject for my research work. I hope this will definitely help scholars, students and general public to know the secrets of these fortresses.

I would like to pen my respect and sincere thanks to my guide Prof. Dr. K.S. Mathew, Director IRISH, Thellicherry, who encouraged me to take up this topic and groomed my skills in academic research work.

I am thankful to Dr. M. Nambirajan, Superintending Archaeologist, Archaeological Survey of India, Thrissur Circle, for rendering valuable suggestions and providing all sorts of help at every stage. I equally express my gratitude to Mr. C. Kumaran Asst. Archaeologist, Mr. Mani Librarian, Ms. K. Lakshmi Draftsman, Mr. Samuel Joshua photographer, Mr. Rakesh Surveyor, Mr. G. Venu, LDC, of Archaeological Survey of India, Thrissur Circle. I record my thanks to Mr. K. Lucka, Senior Conservation Asst, St. Angelo fort. Kannur, K.P. Rajan Sr. C.A. of Thrissur sub circle, Mr. R. Kalaiselvan CA Trivandrum sub circle, Mr. Saju LDC, Bekal fort, K. Preman, OA, of Kannur sub circle, Mr. Lakhan Kumar Sr. Draftsman, TSP, of Bhopal and others for rendering valuable help to complete my research successfully.
