BIBLIOGRAPHY

(A) Primary Sources:

1. Kapur Manju: 'Difficult Daughters'

2. .....................: 'A Married Women'
   New Delhi: India Ink, 2002.

3. .....................: 'Home'

(B) Secondary Sources:

1. Beauvaur, Simonde, "The Second Sex" Tran H.M. Parshley
   Heiburn: Marriage and Contemporary Fiction, Critical Inquiry,
   5 No. 2 (Winter 1978).

2. Grimke, Sarah Letters on the Equality of the sexes and the condition of women New York, Burt Franklin 1970.

   is Transition from chaos to integration: The Common Wealth

5. Jaidev "Problematising Feminism Gender and Literature", ed.

6. Jandial Gur Pyari "The Novels of Shashi Deshpande and Manju Kapur". Atlantic Literary Review.

7. Kakar, Sudhir "Feminine Identity in India" Women in Indian
(ii)

Interviews with Manju Kapur

   <www.hinduonnet.com/thehindu/mag/2003/01/05/stories/2003010500390300.htm>

Conference/Seminar Papers on Manju Kapur

2. Rollason, Christopher. “Problems of translating Indian Writing in English into Spanish, with reference to A Married Woman/Una mujer casada (Manju Kapur, translated by Dora Sales Salvador”.

3. Rollason, Christopher. “Manju Kapur, Chronicles of Indian Womanhood”. Paper given at seminar: La morada de la paz:
conversaciones entre India y Europa, Permanent India Studies Seminar, University of Córdoba, Spain, 13 June 2006 (in the presence of Manju Kapur and with readings from the Spanish translations of her work). Publication forthcoming (in Spanish translation) in proceedings.

Criticism/ Reviews relating to Manju Kapur

31. Spanish language version, La Mujer y los Márgeyes: Reflexiones sobre la Novela Difficult Daughters (Hijas difdQiles), de Manju

