This thesis has been kept on track and been seen through to completion with the support and encouragement of numerous people including my well wishers, my friends, colleagues and family members. I would like to express my sincere gratitude and thanks to all of them who have been my pillars of support as well my strongest critics throughout this scientific endeavour.

At this moment of accomplishment, first and foremost I pay homage to my guide, Prof. Sheela Srivastava. This work would not have been possible without her guidance, support and encouragement. Many times during my work, I ended up with failure and was utterly dejected. However, she always encouraged me to take a different route and keep trying to make my journey an unforgettable experience. Her unflinching courage, conviction, perfection, immense knowledge diligent advice and untiring patience will always inspire me, and I hope to continue to work with her noble thoughts. I appreciate all her contributions of time, ideas, and funding to make my Ph.D. experience productive and stimulating. The joy and enthusiasm she has for her research was contagious and motivational for me, even during tough times in the Ph.D. pursuit. She will remain my best role model for a scientist, mentor, and teacher.

I am obliged to Prof. R. K. Saxena and Prof. T. S. Satyanarayana, Department of Microbiology, UDSC; Dr. Kaustuv Datta, Department of Genetics, UDSC; Dr. Kaushik Chakraborty, IGIB to allow me to use their facilities. I am grateful to Dr. Manisha Goel, Department of Biophysics, UDSC and Dr. Biswajit Kundu, School of Biological Sciences, IIT Delhi for their contribution in the sequencing and structure prediction.

I consider myself truly lucky to have been associated with a dynamic batch of seniors. Thank you Drs. Mandira, Nitika, Bhupinder, Ashutosh, Manoj for their constant support and inspiration for all kind of advice and help. I am deeply indebted to my colleagues who I think of more as my friends. I am thankful to Ruchi and Anu who were always helpful with their kind advice and guidance. I am thankful to Namrata and Reetu, who helped me a lot to design and discuss strategy and trouble-shooting for my experimental work. Special thanks to Namrata for being there always beside me. We really spent a quality time together.

It was a real pleasure to have very sweet juniors like Arpana and Anamika, who were able to keep the environment of lab always cheerful. I can never forget Vidusha, Reena, Tanvee, Vaishnavi, Shilpi, Kalyani, Gunjan for their forever helpful attitude, which have been a big help during my stay here.

I am also grateful to Amita, Tanu, Sheetal, Jaswinder, Dharmendra, Vikas, Digvijay, Sabyasachi, Vaibhab, Sir, Kavish and several other friends of the department.

There are many, who although in the background, nevertheless have encouraged and supported my stay in the department during the last so many years and I take this opportunity to thank them: Neelam Ma’am, Antram Sir, Bharat Sir, Vandana, Shabana for her ever willing help. It’s only right that I acknowledge all the assistance provided by Bhaskar-ji, Sonu and the Labstaff of the whole department who have been a big help during my stay here.

I have been fortunate enough to have company of friends like Sourov, Anand, Saptarshi, Sanga, Anindita, Ria who had given me a heartful of joy and made me feel better whenever I used to get bore and frustrated. I cannot forget the lighter moments with you people which were a stress buster for me during my tough time. Special thanks to Shuvadeep not only for his insightful inputs, co-operation and helpful discussion in my work but also for his encouragement, criticism and all-around support.

Finally, I would like to thank my parents, my father for his extraordinary and untiring patience and his constant encouragement at times when it was most needed; my mother for being my strongest critic and best friend; my little brother for his cheerful encouragement and grandparents for all their love and blessings. I would like to express my gratitude to my local guardians (kaku and kakima) for their heartiest support. Because of their presence, I never felt alone in Delhi. I want to thank you all for believing in me……

A special thanks to the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, India for financing this piece of work.

I also wish to thank all the people who have come my way but somehow missed a mention. Thank you everyone for making this work a success.

“Thank You God Almighty”.
