I have great pleasure in expressing my deep gratitude to my supervising teacher Dr. P. N. Harikumar, Associate professor, Post-Graduate Department of Commerce and Tourism, Catholicate College, Pathanamthitta, who has always given me encouragement ever since I registered myself for research. It has been his keen interest and inspiring guidance that enabled me to complete this project.

My special thanks are due to the University Grants Commission for admitting me in the two-year Faculty Development Programme to undertake Ph.D. research on full-time basis. I am indebted to my employer, the Director of Collegiate Education, Govt. of Kerala, and to my Controlling Officer, the Principal, Government College, Nedumangad, for having given permission to carry out the research work under the Faculty Development Programme of UGC.

I am also indebted to Dr. M. E. Kuriakose, Principal, K.G. College, Pambady, for enrolling me as the first candidate of the Research and Post-Graduate Department of Commerce and providing me all support and assistances wherever needed. My heartfelt thanks to Dr. Rajan George Panicker (former Head of the Department) and Prof. Raechel Punnoose, Head of the Department of Commerce, K.G. College, Pambady for their support during the course of my study.

I offer my thanks to the officials of the Department of Fisheries, ADAK, FFDAs, and the State Planning Board, Thiruvananthapuram, for their sincere help in the collection of data. My heartfelt thanks to Sri. S. Santhosh Kumar, Research Assistant, ADAK, and Sri. G. Sajan Kumar, Matsya Keralam Cell, Department of Fisheries, for providing the most needed secondary data on the Inland Fisheries of Kerala. As a part of the work, I have visited many Research Institutes like Central Institute for Brackishwater Aquaculture (CIBA), Chennai, Central Institute for Freshwater Aquaculture (CIFA), Bhubaneswar, and Marine Products Export Development Authority (MPEDA), Cochin. I am thankful to the members of staff thereof for their kind co-operation. I express my sincere thanks to all fisheries extension officers, aquaculture coordinators and farmers for their wholehearted co-operation and encouragement to materialise this project.

I have benefited greatly from consultations with Prof.K. Kalyanaraman, Former Professor of Statistics, University of Kerala on the application of various statistical tools in the analysis stage of this report. Moreover, the 12-day workshop and Faculty Development Programme (FDP) organised by him as the chief statistical analyst in the Research centre enabled me to build a suitable statistical framework for this study. I am thankful to him for his valuable guidance.

The proof reading of the research papers for publication in the peer reviewed journals, KEGEES Journal of Social Science and Commerce and Management Explorer helped me to understand the different methodologies applied in Commerce and Management research. I am thankful to the editorial board for assigning me such opportunity during the course of my research.

I express my deepest sense of gratitude to Prof.V.K. Moothath, Former Professor of English, University College, Thiruvananthapuram, for his patient reading and necessary corrections for the logical presentation of the thesis.

Let me dedicate this work to my mother P. Indiradevi Amma and memories of my father Krishnan Kutty Nair, N. who have always been a source of strength and inspiration in all my academic endeavors. I also appreciate the forbearance shown by my wife Jolly, M.L and children Induleshmy, P.J. and Atithyan, P.K., throughout the course of my study.

There are numerous friends and relatives who have assisted me throughout the preparation of the thesis. I shall always remain grateful to all who have helped me in the materialisation of this project.

Pradeep Kumar, K.
