CHAPTER 7

SCOPE FOR FUTURE WORK

In today's environment, technical competence alone is not sufficient for career success. Employers want employees who have completed the required courses in their chosen field. Employers are looking for non-technical or soft skills that would help employees perform better. Hence, students who are the future employees, need with respect to project management, time management, conflict resolution, and communication. The co-curricular and extra-curricular activities aim at rendering additional values, and helping students to broaden their horizons and inspiring them to actualize all-round development of such qualities to face the threats like economic recession in society. The future work of this thesis could aim at developing SIG for Student Related Activities. So that there is an organized effort has been taken to do the future research in the above area.
