ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are a number of people who were integral to the completion of my dissertation and without whom this thesis might not have been written, and to whom I am greatly indebted.

This thesis would not have been possible without the guidance and support provided by my supervisor Dr. Nagi Reddy V. He spent countless hours providing valuable inputs and suggestions from the inception stage of this research work to the final draft. His comments and feedbacks throughout have helped me in improving the content as well as the organization of this thesis to a great extent.

I would like to heartily thank Dr. Thanos Verousis who updated me on the literature in the area of market microstructure and helped me with his knowledge and experience to complete this research work. I have learned a lot from him during our numerous interactions at Bangor University, North Wales, UK as a visiting scholar. I am grateful for his incessant guidance and feedbacks.

I am thankful to Dr. Kaushik Bhattacharjee who was my convener. He provided me with valuable inputs on this study that immensely helped in shaping the thesis proposal and defending it successfully. I am grateful to Dr. Nikhil Rastogi, Dr. Nupur Pavan Bang who, besides their constant guidance on the topic as members of doctoral advisory committee (DAC), also helped me to understand the subject better since I joined the PhD programme at IBS-Hyderabad. My special thanks to Dr. A.K. Rao who has given me helpful insights in terms of reviewing literature and hypothesis construction for this work. I am also thankful to our vice chancellor Dr. J. Mahender Reddy, Director Dr. Narasimhaiah Gorla and to ICFAI Foundation of Higher Education (IFHE), Hyderabad for encouraging research and providing with all the resources needed to complete this work.

During this study I have been fortunate enough to get wonderful colleagues like Yogesh, Ranajee, Satish, Sudhakar, Kavita, Ajay and many others who helped in the betterment of the idea of this study through several formal and informal sittings and discussions. My special thanks to Sudhakar for his valuable suggestions regarding both the content and organisation of the thesis. You all have been wonderful colleagues who always stood by me through the good times and bad and supported, encouraged, and motivated me unconditionally.

Last but not the least; I thank my parents (Mr. Lalit Kumar Pathak and Smt. Reeta Pathak), other family members and my all friends (specially Aashish, Ankur and Sandeep) for their continuous love and support both financially and emotionally to complete this thesis. It would have never come this far without them.

Thank you all.

Lastly, all errors are solely mine.
