Acknowledgement

I owe a great deal to everyone who stood by me in the course of my research endeavor over a period of three years and in the subsequent preparation of this report.

I am especially thankful to my guide Dr. B. Rajasekaran, Professor and Head, Department of Management Studies, Manonmaniam Sundaranar University, for his inestimable contribution in this academic pursuit right from the start until the completion of this report. It is his expert advice and appropriate guidance that prompted the successful accomplishment of this research project furthermore enhancing me with a rich learning experience.

I would like to record my sense of gratitude to the principal authorities in Scott Christian College during my research tenure for their continued patronage and motivation even in the instances when my research tasks made me lag behind in my official responsibilities.

My thanks are due to the senior professors and research scholars of Scott and other academic institutions with whom I had meaningful discussions which at times changed the course of my research towards the better especially in the application of statistical tools.

I would like to record my appreciations to my friends, both in India and abroad, my students and acquaintances serving in various financial institutions for their tremendous contribution in the collection of data, supply of research materials and in the copy editing of this report. And it won’t be fair if I don’t express my gratitude to the respondents who spent a valuable part of their time in filling up the rather lengthy questionnaire.

Finally, I wish to acknowledge the support extended by my mother and other family members in more ways than one during my research programme. My loving little kids Hanie and Michelle need a special mention here for bearing with my ‘absence presence’ at home quite some time on account of my hectic research schedule.
To my father who was my Strength Support and Sustenance
