Acknowledgements

This dissertation is the final production of my research work done under the astute guidance of Prof. C.P. Sivadasan. I am extremely grateful for his intellectual generosity illuminating discussions, constructive advice, enthusiasm and encouragement all through the course of my research work.

I owe special thanks to Prof. C.D. Narasimhayya for his encouragement and help during my stay at Dhwanya Loka.

Dr. G.S. Dhillon and Dr. Guruupdesh Singh of G.N.D. University, Amritsar have helped me in getting a first hand knowledge of the sufferings of the people of Mano Majra during the days of Partition.

I appreciate the co-operation of Dr. N. Ramachandran Nair, Prof. & Head, Dept. of English, University of Calicut.

The staff of Calicut University Library, Literary Criterion, Mysore and IEFL, Palayad helped me in tracking down valuable materials for my research. I use this opportunity to acknowledge their services. I appreciate the patience and co-operation of Mr. Kiran Raveendran who carried out the printing work.
I was helped by the support of my colleague, Prof. Ramakumaran and the encouragement of my family members.

This research work would not have progressed without the constant support of my wife, Suraja and my children, Divya and Dhanya.

Finally to my mother, Keezhoth Parvathi Amma who introduced me to the world of letters, I dedicate this thesis.
