CONTENTS

Preface ........................................ i-ii
Acknowledgement ............................. iii-v
List of Tables ................................. vi-xii
List of Figures ............................... xiii-xvii
Abbreviations ............................... xviii

CHAPTER-I

INTRODUCTION .......................... 1-48

1.1 Importance of effective parenting .... 3
1.2 Impact of home on child rearing practices .... 5
1.3 Child rearing practices : traditional versus modern child rearing practices .... 5
1.4 Need of an assessment of Child Rearing Practices on the physical development of the children .... 18
1.5 Need of an impact assessment of Child Rearing Practices on the emotional development of the children .... 21
1.6 Different parameters of Child Rearing Practices .... 28
1.7 Need and Importances of child rearing practices .... 42
1.8 Theories of Child Rearing Practices .... 44

CHAPTER-II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE .... 49-82

2.1 Western Studies .......................... 51
2.2 Indian Studies ............................ 64
2.3 Resume of the study ...................... 71
2.4 Statement of the problem ............... 71
2.5 Operational definition .................... 72
2.6 Need and Significance of the study 79
2.7 Objectives 81
2.8 Hypotheses 81
2.9 Delimitation of the study 82

CHAPTER-III 83-100

METHODOLOGY

3.1 Introduction 83
3.1.2 Descriptive Survey Method 85
3.1.3 Design of the Study 86
3.1.4 Demographical and Geographical Profile of Nalbari District 87
3.1.5 Population and Sample 91
3.1.6 Purposive Random Sampling Procedure 91
3.1.7 Description of the Sample 92
3.1.8 Tools for data collection 96
3.1.9 Self developed questionnaire on physical development of the children 97
3.1.10 Base for selecting thirteen parameter in items of CRP and its impact on the physical development of children 97
3.1.11 Self structured questionnaire on the impact of emotional development of children 98
3.1.12 Base for selecting items on child rearing practices and its impact on the emotional development of children 99
3.1.13 Self structured questionnaire on child rearing beliefs and practices 99
3.1.14 The Information Blank 99
3.1.15 Data Collection 100
CHAPTER-IV

ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATION OF DATA

4.1 Statistical Technique used 103
4.2 Data Analysis (objective wise) 103

CHAPTER-V

FINDINGS, DISCUSSION AND SUGGESTIONS

5.1 Findings 252
5.2 Discussions 270
5.2.1 Child rearing practices and its impact on the physical development of the children for tribal and non-tribal non-working
5.2.2 Physical impact of children between Tri Non-WRK and Non-Tri-working in respect of breast feeding, weaning and burping
5.2.3 Physical impact of children between Tri-Non-WRK and Non-Tri Non-WRK in respect of breast feeding, burping and weaning
5.2.4 Medicine and Vaccination 272
5.2.5 Emotional impact on children of non-tribal non-working women (mother) on Anger, Love, Fear, Jealousy and joy
5.2.6 Emotional impact on children for non Tribal working women
5.2.7 Comparative study on Tribal and Non-Tribal Women on the parameters bottle feedings, sterilizing solid food, massage and bathing
5.2.8 Child rearing beliefs and practices is related to gender difference 274
5.2.9 Child rearing practices among the working and non-working women against the parameters toileting, clothing, teething and cleanliness

5.3 Suggestion

5.3.1 Role of mothers

5.3.2 Role of fathers

5.3.3 Role of Grandmother

5.3.4 Suggestions given by child specialists

5.3.5 Expert recommendations taken from Dr. Jyanendra Nath Sarma

5.3.6 Psychologist Dr. Debajani Shaha’s recommendation

5.3.7 Chief Minister’s Vision

5.3.8 Awareness through Mass-redia

5.3.9 Conclusion

CHAPTER-VI

SUMMARY

6.1 Different parameters on child rearing practices

6.2 Statement of the Problem

6.3 Operational Definitions

6.4 Need and Significance of the study

6.5 Objectives

6.6 Hypotheses

6.7 Population and Sample

6.8 Purposive Random Sampling Procedure

6.9 Description of the sample

6.10 Sampling of women - area wise percentage

6.11 Sampling of women - marital status on percentage

6.12 Number of Children
6.13 Tools for data gathering 298
6.14 Statistical Technique used 298
6.15 Data collection 298
6.16 Major Findings 299
6.17 Conclusion 302

BIBLIOGRAPHY 304-311

APPENDICES (I-III) i-xv

PHOTO GALLERY