I thank Prof. Umesh Rai for being such a wonderful supervisor. He has his unique ways of teaching. His push on doing things by near perfection and attempt impossible catapulted me to give my maximum to achieve goals. His never say no attitude led me experiment many uncharted horizons.

“Thanks You” can not substantiate contribution of Dr. Subeer S Majumdar in my life. At last, after many year’s search, I found a “Guru” in him. I am indebted to him for introducing me to the ‘Life’. It’s a “Guru” who shapes one’s personality and he is The BEST in doing that. He is a great scientist and a greater human being. I am fortunate to be mentored by him.

I thank my doctoral committee members, Prof. K Muralidhar, Prof. MM Chaturvedi and Dr. Rita Singh, for their thoughtful suggestions leading to successful achievement of my Ph.D. research objectives.

I am grateful to Prof. A. K. Singh, Head, Department of Zoology, for providing departmental facilities.

I thank Prof. Avadhesha Surolia, Former Director, National Institute of Immunology, for allowing me to conduct experiments on rat model.

I specially mention the contribution of Mr. B. Bose, Former Senior Manager, National Institute of Immunology, for allowing me to see an amazing place, called, NII.

I thank Prof. Arun Raghuvanshi, Dept. of Bio-science, Barkatullah University, Bhopal for ushering me to the philosophy of science, and life at large.

Kanchan Ma’am deserves a BIG thank you. She is the first person to teach me conducting experiments. I profoundly thank her for all the unconditional support she lends whenever I require. I can go to her for almost every problem and I always return cheerful with a solution. She is the biggest support system. Thank You Ma’am.

Sweety Ma’am is a person very true to her name. I share a unique relationship with her, and that’s not professional but a close personal one. I thank her for care, concern and affection she bestows upon me. One would come across very few persons like her. She is always ready to share my state of my mind and provide comfort to my agitated brain. And, her gorgeous dresses compel me to comment, invariably, almost every day. She is such a cute personality.
Thanks to Neerja Ma’am for help during germ cell experiments. She is a wonderful person to learn many things from. Her presence make ambience cheerful. She always left me dumbfounded by the precision she conducts animal experimentations. And, with her striking dress sense she is sure to be noticed. She has a bigger role in our lab picnics which are memorable event of our lab life.

Thanks to Neetu Ma’am for being so accommodating.

Ram Singh Ji and Dharamveer Ji, apart from technical help they extended, they are vital part of lab life. Ram Singh Ji’s witty one liners and Dharamveer Ji’s innocence make lab a lighter place. Thanks to Roy Ji for help with fantastic sectioning.

Bhan Singh Kaka, whom with I visited most horrific place, the slaughter house. Those visits have permanently encrusted in my brain.

Thanks to Indrashis for his friendship and for sharing some rough patches of times. Thank you Indrashis for singing all those wonderful ghazals and song for me.

Abul is dear old bankable friend, always ready to help anywhich way I wanted. I never need to think before asking him for anything. Thanks Abul.

Bhola, my bench partner (we volunteered to share same work bench). Great human being. Its amazing to see him working single mindedly with superb efficiency. He always attempt to do what others have failed doing. I learn my things from him. Bhola is a trustworthy source of all behind the curtain news, making it lot easier to work in lab. Hail Bholaism….Hmmmm

Sayon, my personalized live encyclopedia. Its a treat to talk to him.

Hiron is a very good friend. I thank him for all the support he readily provided whenever I needed.

Thanks to Nirmalya Ganguli for teaching alien bio-informatic things. He is an instant relief in any stress.

Nilanjana, Satya, Manasi and Rajesh are new bees in the lab. They make lab a more vibrant place.

I thank Meraj Alam Khan, Department of Physiology, All India Institute of Medical Sciences, New Delhi, for much needed help in microarray data analysis.

Thanks to Unaiza and Rajeev for being such a good friends.
Sunil is my Ginie…whatever I wish, he gets me that and sometimes, he sense what I could wish, and he gets me that even before I voice my wish. I am blessed to have a friend like him. I wish our friendship goes a long way.

Amitabhb a great friend with whom apart from scientific experiments I share great laughter. His crispy one liners make any situation enjoyable. He supported me a great deal during all university related affairs. His help always comes at right time. Thanks Amy.

Senior Mamata, Ritu, Olive, Dr. Varsha, Dr. Pankaj, Junior Mamata and Manisha are an integral part of lab. They make lab ambience vibrant and enjoyable and all of them are extremely helpful.

Surendra is an important person to run daily chores in the lab.

I take this opportunity to thank Soma Didi for her much needed help at the 11th hour. She saved my life at the last moment. Thanks Soma di a lot.

Devraj, latest in my friends, yet I somehow own his friendship. I could vent out all my frustration while talking o him.

I owe a lot to MummyJi-PapaJi for their unconditional love and support.

Mataji’s motherly love and affection is of great value to me. She is gem of a person, sane and sorted. Thanks to her for all the unusual yet mouth watering and soul drenching delicacies she makes me taste.

Mouli Madam is a single big source of inspiration. I admire her for concrete determination she displays. At the same time, she is such a pleasing personality that I want to speak to her again and again. She affected my brain in many ways. I will remember those music classes where I grasped but nothing but I am super satisfied that I got to listen some great classical music compositions.

Thanks to Shuchi and Annie for bringing that cheerful innocence to my life. I learned a good deal of maths in the process of teaching Annie.

Sachin has been my life line throughout these years. He is the first person I call in any good or not so good situation. He was always standing behind me like a rock in all odd times and he was the first person to congratulate me for anything good happened. His critical analysis of any situation guided me to take most balanced decision during difficult times. I owe him a lot. I believe he will keep doing this entire my life.
I thanks my in-laws for their encouragement and support, specially my mother-in-law for her blessings. Top of it, thanks a lot to Sunita Didi, for putting an end to turbulent times in my life. After her intervention, life became much calmer and enjoyable.

I wholeheartedly thank My Mausaji, for instilling in me, from very early age, the zeal to stay ahead.

Any person who felt it sheerly that I was doing a PhD is my wife, Savita. She has been waiting for husband for the past 2 years and a half. I thank her for her patience, encouragement and support. I hope she will have better days ahead.

Rekha is an indispensable part of life. She stood with me in all harsh conditions. Hope She will be there for me always, in any sort of conditions.

Thank to my lovely nieces, Aaradhana, Jyoti, Aadhya and Janya and nephew Kaushal for making every moment of life much more enjoyable. They are the one who make me feel special despite many personal drawbacks I have.

Pramod, Minku, Golu, Abbey, Poonam and Pavan ji are the ones who are always there for me. Thanks guys.

I direly miss Jiji Bai today. She was the strongest anchor in my life. I feel deprived of her love, affection and blessings today.

I owe this life to my parents. They let me see this amazing world. And they let me be a free spirit. I salute their struggle.

Thanks to my sisters and jijaji’s, Jitendra, bhabhi and kids for their LOVE, encouragement and belief in me.

And, lastly, I acknowledge the presence of “Bhai” in my life, without whom, life is incomplete and blank.
