Lord Shri Krishna says, I am the source of all spiritual and material worlds.
Everything emanates from me. The wise who perfectly know this engage in my devotional service and worship me with all their hearts.
(Bhagwat Gita, 10.8).

This thesis arose in part out of years of research that has been done since I came to DIPSAR. By that time, I have worked with a great number of people whose contribution in assorted ways to the research and the making of the thesis deserved special mention. With an overwhelming sense of pride and obligation, I will avail myself of this opportunity to evince my deep sense of reverence and eternal gratitude to my esteemed and honorable guide Prof. B. P. Srinivasan, Director, Professor of Pharmacology, Delhi Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences & Research, for his distinctive guidance. I am grateful to him for his painstaking efforts during preparation of this manuscript. He has not only guided me with a comprehensive approach to the planning of my work but also shared throughout in every detail in its execution. I find myself fortunate enough to have him as my major advisor in this investigation. Sir, I am grateful in every possible way and hope to keep up our collaboration in the future.

I avail this rare opportunity to extend my appreciation and complements to Dr. Rajani Mathur, Assistant Professor, Deptt. of Pharmacology & Dr. S. R. Wakode, Associate Professor, Deptt. Of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, DIPSAR, for their valuable counsel untiring help, personal care, intellectual explanations and clarifications of results arisen during research work.

My vocabulary fails to express my gratitude and regard to my beloved parents and elder brothers, Prashant, Heamant and Makarand for their blessing, love and constant encouragement and help without whose cooperation this study would not have been completed.

Friendship being one of the greatest boon to mankind, I rejoice to open down the account of affection, untiring help, and encouragement received from my friends Atul, Katara, Mani, (Mrs) Divya, Sreeja, Sonia.

No words can suffice my feelings of gratitude to my friends & juniors for their unflinching help and moral encouragement in my research work.

I feel immensely gratified to non teaching staff member Naresh, Animal House Attendant, DIPSAR, for his needful cooperation.

Last but not least, I am indebted to those ‘dumb creatures’, the centre of my profession, for they provided me an opportunity to serve them better. I wish their souls will rest in peace and keep blessing me for my future.
