I would also like to thank my colleagues Dr Anjali Capila, Dr Nandita Chaudhary, Dr. Archna Kumar and Dr Rupa Upadhyay for their constant encouragement. The support of Sonia Sain, Ruchi Gaur, Anjali Singh, Nilanksha Sachdev was vital in many ways.

I am extremely grateful to Mr Vijay Kumar Jain, formerly at NCERT, for helping me in planning and conducting the statistical analysis of this study. Without his help I could not have reached the personal target of learning some nuances of quantitative research and know the value of both quantitative and qualitative research.

This study would not have been possible without the support of Mr Rajpal and Mr Munshi Ram who helped me to identify and reach the respondents and their families.

Above all, I owe this study to my respondents for giving me their valuable time, sharing personal details and experiences and permitting me to enter their homes and lives. I would like to offer my sincere gratitude to each one of them for their patience over my repeated visits and probing and responding to my queries with faith and honesty. Without their candid responses, this study would have lacked depth and insight.

I am extremely thankful to my husband, children and parents for their patience, moral boosting and tenacity to support me throughout the course of this study.

The completion of this study has also helped me to reinforce my faith in that higher power ‘Almighty’… because nothing can be achieved without that power’s will…
