INDEX

➢ Introduction 1-26

➢ Chapter I: The Coming of the Refugee 27-62
  • The Initial Phase: Political Rhetoric and Public Reaction
  • Evacuation in the West
  • Bengal—The Other Story
  • State’s View on Migration in the East
  • Categories of Migrants
  • Summing Up
  • Annexure I and II

➢ Chapter II: Rehabilitation of Refugees Coming from West Pakistan 68-128
  • Priorities and Plans
  • Defining the Displaced Persons
  • From Relief to Rehabilitation
  • Permanent Rehabilitation
  • Delhi the ‘refugee city’
  • Rehabilitation of the Harijans
  • Grievances of the Displaced Persons
  • Summing Up
  • Annexure I-IX

➢ Chapter III: Rehabilitation of Refugees Coming from East Pakistan 129-187
  • Priorities and Plans
  • Defining the Displaced Persons
  • Relief/Rehabilitation/Regulation
  • Relief to Rehabilitation [1946-50]
  • Rehabilitation to Regulation [1950-58]
  • Regulation to Dispersal [1954-71]
  • Dandakaranya
  • Summing Up
  • Annexure I-V

➢ Chapter IV: Refugees Respond 188-250
  • Why I am not a Refugee
  • ‘Real’ v/s ‘Psychological’ Threat
  • Refugees Respond to State-sponsored Relief and Rehabilitation Programme
  • Dandakaranya: Project of Ultimate Failure
  • Refugee Self-Initiative
  • Rebuilding Lives: Calcutta City
- Reinstating their Rights as the Citizens of this State
- Summing Up
- Annexure I-V

- Chapter V: The Women’s Chapter—Stree Parva  251-298
  - Historiography—the Story so Far
  - Defining Violence
  - Rehabilitation of Refugee Women
  - State Aid to the Refugee Women coming from West Pakistan
  - The Eastern Experience
  - Summing Up

- Conclusion  299-304

- Photographs  305-317

- Bibliography  318-332