ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

“There is no happiness except in the realization that we have accomplished something”,

Henry Ford.

After a journey of hard work now I have reached the destination and it is the time for me to have the opportunity to express my gratitude to all those who helped me in achieving this goal.

Firstly, I would like to express my deep gratitude and sincere thanks to my respected supervisor Dr. P.C.Jha, Department of Operational Research, University of Delhi for motivating me and providing me his immeasurable support, invariable inspiration throughout my research period. Besides being a supervisor, he was helping in conferring valuable suggestions for improving the work and building the confidence. He shared a number of ideas with me which could be realized in the form of the work done in this thesis. Without his guidance and help, I would not have reached to this stage in my life. Secondly, I would also like to convey my special thanks to Prof. P.K Kapur, Department of Operational Research, University of Delhi and Prof. U. Dinesh Kumar, Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore, for timely encouragement and inspiration. I would also like to extend my thanks to Dr. Preeti Wanti Srivastava (HOD) and all faculty members for being very supportive in every aspect.

I am also greatly indebted to all many teachers who have taught me in the past. Their knowledge, encouragement and appreciation have given me the strength for taking this most significant academic challenge.

I would be failing in my duties if I do not convey my special thanks to Dr.(Mrs) Anshu Gupta, faculty of Department of Operational Research, University of Delhi whose inspiring words and support has been a great source of strength. Besides her, there are many who joined me in my journey, I would like to extend my warmest thanks to all of them with a special mention of Ritu Arora, Indumati, Kuldeep, Yogender, Remica, Kanika, Sandhya, Prerna, Sugandha and Sonam for their unconditional support.
Next, comes my Karmabhoomi, Lal Bahadur Institute of Management, it gives me a great pleasure to place on record my profound gratitude to our esteemed Chairman Mr. Anil Shastri, who permitted me to pursue my Ph.D besides regular teaching at the institute. I am grateful to Prof. Gautam Sinha (Director), and Dr. G.L. Sharma (Corporate Advisor), Prof. Prem Sibbal (Dean Academics) for their inspiring words, encouragement and support during the period. I would also like to thank my Programme Co-ordinators Dr. Ashish Garg and Mr. Praveen Gupta for their constant support, appreciation and inspiration without which this work would not have been possible. Last but not the least I would like to thank my friends and colleagues Ms. Geetanjali Sahi, Ms. Shikha Singh, Ms. Pragya Arya, Dr. Bindu Chabbra and Ms. Rekha Gupta who were always there with me to energize and rejuvenate a sense of responsibility in me towards my Ph.D work. I would like to extend my thanks to GP. Capt. Dhram Puni (CAO) and Mr. Rajan Mathew (SAO).

An amorous thank to my Husband Mr. Vikram Bali. He had always been encouraging, supportive and understanding. Whenever I was in doubt he believed in me and beside many hurdles he always motivated me to achieve my goal.

My heartfelt gratitude and thanks are to my family members for their constant support, patience and encouragement shown during the long hours of my study. Without their sacrifice, it would have been rather impossible to complete my work. I would like to give my thanks to Mrs. Meenakshi Mehta and Mr. B.D. Sudan for reading my thesis and giving valuable suggestions.

Now I didn’t want to thank, indeed give lots of love to my little son Dhruv. His supportive attitude was always motivating for me. I love you baby.

Last but not the least, I thank almighty God for giving me the strength to complete this piece of work.

I would like to extend my most sincere appreciation to all the individuals who have contributed in their best possible ways for the completion of my Ph.D.

I apologize for any omissions left in this thesis.

Shivani Bali