This thesis is the end of my journey in obtaining my Ph.D. I have not travelled in a vacuum in this journey. This thesis has been kept on track and been seen through to completion with the support and encouragement of numerous people including my well wishers, my friends and colleagues. At the end of my thesis, it is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.

First and foremost I would like to bow down my head in front of ‘Almighty’ the most beneficent and merciful for making this task reach its completion.

It gives me immense pleasure to acknowledge the valuable role played by Prof. Mohammad Shakir, my supervisor, whose motivation, enthusiasm and willing support kept me going to the end. He formulated many ideas that are developed in this thesis, helped me structure my thoughts and writing, instilling his analytic way of thinking and proofread my outputs with utmost care. His painstaking efforts to help me at the cost of his personal inconvenience will always remain an unforgettable memory to me.

I owe my sincere gratitude to Dr. Farah Firdaus for her moral support.

I acknowledge Prof. M. Mushfiq, The Chairman, Department of Chemistry, Aligarh Muslim University, Aligarh for providing necessary research facilities.

Financial assistance provided by U.G.C. during the research work is highly acknowledged.

Prof. Kr. Mohammad Yusuf Amin and Dr. Abdul Latief deserve my sincere expression of thanks for helping me carry out antibacterial and analgesic activities of my synthesized compounds in their labs. My warm appreciation is due to their M.D. students Dr. Sumbul Rehman and Saba Viquar for providing necessary help.

I certainly appreciate and cannot forget the sincere help of my seniors, Dr. Mohammed Azam, Dr. Sultana Naqeeb and Dr. Kaneez Fatima.

I am thankful to my lab colleagues, Miss Sadiqa Khanum, Mrs Naushaba Sani and Mrs Nida Shahid for providing a stimulating and fun environment in which to learn and grow, for helping me get through difficult times and for all the emotional support and comradeship. It is with them that I realised that a journey is easier when you travel together and that interdependence is certainly more valuable than independence.

At this moment of accomplishment, I am indebted to my mother Mrs. Shagufta Abbasi and my father Prof. Zia Ahmad Abbasi who through my childhood and study career had always encouraged me to follow my heart and inquisitive mind in any direction this took me. They have provided me a loving home, one where an academic mind was celebrated. It is to them I dedicate my thesis. My parents, my sister Sadaf Abbasi, my brother-in-law Nadeem Salim, my uncle Tehzeeb Abbasi and my grandmother Mrs. Razia Abbasi have been there for me during inevitable ups and downs of my life. They have helped me in times of despair and complete hopelessness. They have had confidence and believe in my ability to complete this cherish dream of mine at times when I have felt low and dejected.
