ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Making an inquiry into power is a very difficult task. It is a challenge which requires patience and perseverance. Power is a complex and elusive phenomenon; any attempt to deconstruct its mystery is bound to be both demanding and fascinating. Having completed this strenuous project, I wish to express thanks to my supervisor, Dr. M. Asim Siddiqui for his patience and guidance during this study. I am very thankful to him for his discriminating and meticulous reading of this thesis. I also thank Prof. Sohail Ahsan, Chairman, Department of English, A.M.U. Aligarh for his kindness and help.

I am immensely grateful to Prof. S. Wiqar Husain, Ex-Chairman, Department of English, A.M.U. for his cooperation, encouragement, advice and guidance in the completion of this project. Prof. S. Wiqar Husain, whom I consider my mentor, not only taught me Kafka and Kundera but helped me with his deep knowledge and experience of fiction at every stage of this study. I am deeply indebted to my teacher for giving me insight into the world of literature.

I am beholden to Prof. A.R. Kidwai for his kindness and cooperation. He not only made available to me some important books on Kafka and Kundera from the University of Leicester (UK) but encouraged me very much during the completion of this study. Along with the other teachers of the Department of English, A.M.U. I am grateful to Dr. Seemin Hasan and Dr. Samina Khan for their cooperation and advice in the completion of this enterprise.

I would like to acknowledge my thanks to the members of the staff, Maulana Azad Library, A.M.U., Seminar Library, Department of English, A.M.U., J.N.U. Library, New Delhi and the library of the University of Leicester (UK).
