Acknowledgement

A Ph. D. research involves many people other than to whom it is awarded. I acknowledge all those who have helped me in the process.

First and the foremost my sincere, spiritual and prayerful thanks to My God, Shree Sarva Dev Namaskara, Shree Mahaavji Maharaj and all my spiritual leaders who have invigorated me to accomplish this assignment and blessed me with support, bestowed upon me what I asked for and energize me to sustain with strength in all the ordeals.

Dr. Neerja A. Gupta my guide has supported me during this process in such a way that I have been polished enough to conceive this thought and incubate enough to give birth to this thesis. She has been by guiding light as a teacher, philosopher, friend and mother. Had she not been my guide, I would not have grown strong as a person, a teacher and an administrator. I have not come across a person other than DNA, as I call her, who could handle multi-tasking such brilliantly. Her importance in my life is as important as DNA which is important for the life to exist.

Dr. Saurabh Choksi, the principal of JG College of Commerce has been a moral support during this process. I express a special thanks to Shree John Geevargese, The Chairman, ASIA Charitable Trust. A special thanks to Shree Rohit Mehta, The Chairman of Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan, Ahmedabad Kendra and Shree Mukesh Patel, The Hon. Secretary, Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan, Ahmedabad Kendra.

My friends Prof. Bindiya Baxi Chhaya, Dr. Sagar Dave and Dr. Vandana Bhavsar (now in NICMAR, Pune), who are my colleagues at JG College of Commerce have supported me through the process. I thank them from within my heart.
The staff members, at Bhavan’s H. B. Institute of Communication and Management - Kutty Sir, Gaurang, Utsav, Kinnari and Nitaben, deserve my special thanks. I express my sincere gratitude to my dear students Vanita Arya, Hiral Ravia and Ravjeetsingh Atwal, who have helped me.

Family is always one support, which at the time of expressing gratitude, may be mentioned at the last, but it is never the least than any other. My father, who I have kept alive in my heart has always guided me and inspired me. I believe he is busy painting life size pictures for Almighty God up there in heaven. Thank you, Pappa. My Mummy, who kept on pushing me to complete the work sincerely, has been my ardent support. One can’t find an appropriate way to thank mothers and I believe that ‘thanks’ is a very small word befitting the expression of gratitude to mothers. Thank you, Mummy.

I do not have appropriate words to express my gratitude to my wife Bindu. She has given as much mental space as much I have in the sustained phenomenon of my pursuing this. She ardently motivated me to accomplish this task and gives one more reason for me to believe that she is my better half. Thank you, Bindu. Mugdha, my daughter, not knowing the meaning of Ph. D. had believed that I am doing something important and always have helped me by not watching TV with loud volume, by making me feel comfortable and sometimes scolding other family members reminding them that I am studying. Thank you, Mugdha.

I thank all who have helped me directly or indirectly for writing this thesis.

Thank you,

Paavan Chandra Pandit
