ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

At the outset, I am indebted forever to my father late Dr. Ramanath Kanungo, for his eternal inspiration and encouragement.

It is with sincere gratitude, that I acknowledge the guidance and support given to me by my supervisor Professor K.D. Kapur. He will remain as an invaluable guide to me.

I will also remain indebted to the valuable suggestions and help of Professor Dawa Norbu, eminent sinologist, Professor Alka Acharya of Chinese Studies, Professor Chintamani Mohapatra of American and West European Studies of JNU, Professor Geza Feketekutty, Director, International Commercial Diplomacy Project of Monterey Institute for International Studies, Professor Jeswald Salacuse of Fletcher School of Diplomacy, Tufts University, Professor Gerrit W. Gong of Center for Strategic and International Studies, Professor Susan K. Shell of George Washington University, Professor Tan Qingshan, Cleveland State University, John J. Foarde III, Vice President of U.S.-China Business Council, Washington, D.C., Lochlann Boyle of Institute of Multi-Track Diplomacy, Washington, D.C. and Mr. Benjamin Monyiondo of Ronald Brown Foundation for Commercial Diplomacy, Washington, D.C..

I am thankful to the University Grants Commission for awarding me a Research Fellowship and the authorities of School of International Studies of JNU for benefiting me with the Field-Trip fellowship to visit the United States for the primary research work of my thesis.

I am extremely grateful to the library staffs of Jawaharlal Nehru University, Institute of Chinese studies, American Center Library, Indian Institute of Foreign Trade, Research and Information Systems for Nonaligned and Developing Countries, Library of Congress, the United States Trade Representative, Fairbank Center Library, Harvard University, Columbia University Library, and libraries of Tufts university for helping me in collecting materials for my thesis.
Although quite lately associated with my research, my husband Pabitra was immensely helpful especially during the last phase of it. I will always admire his patience and sincerity for this matter.

A special thanks goes to my core sabarmati group of friends as well as some of non-sabarmatites namely Sekar, Sujana, Nihar, Nanu, Malli, Sangeeta, Dharani, Binaya Bhai, IIFTians and lot others for their lively support all the time throughout these years of my research and staying in the JNU campus.

Lastly, no words can express my gratitude to “maa” and other members of my family without their loving support finishing this work would have been the most difficult task for me.

Rajashree Kanungo
