ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

I find it almost impossible to express in words my sincere gratitude and indebtedness to Prof. H.S. Gill for his able guidance and inspiration through all these years which enabled me to complete this dissertation. It is an unforgettable experience to work with Prof. H.S. Gill who besides being a gentleman and an excellent human, has the unique ability to understand his research students and provide them the requisite direction and guidance.

I am equally indebted and thankful to my co-supervisor Prof. H.C. Narang who has been a constant guiding force throughout my research. His encouragement and direction at every stage was of immense help.

Further I would take an opportunity to thank Prof. Vaishna Narang for her wholehearted support and guidance.

I cannot forget the useful inputs provided by many others from time to time, this contribution though cannot be quantified, did make my work easier.

Lastly, I would like to thank my husband J.B. Singh, my children Angad, Anant, Asees, my mother-in-law Late Mrs Kuljit Kaur, my mother Mrs Rajinder Kaur and my brother Paramjit Singh for their moral support and continuous encouragement without which my work would not have been possible.
