Acknowledgments

I don't have words to thank my research supervisor Prof. VPN Nampoori, without him, I believe my research work will be like a stroke of line drawn in water. He gave me all the support and courage to start a new field of research at ISP. When he gave me the idea of drawing polymer optical fibers and to make it operate as an amplifier in the visible communication regime as my research topic, to be frank, at the back of my mind I was a little bit skeptical. Due to his constant encouragement and support the idea was conceived and today I feel proud that I have made his dream come true. His ability to conceive things in totality and his tremendous vision of future and ideologies which motivates people around him always inspired me. Moreover I believe I am the luckiest researcher to get a supervisor like “Nampoori sir” in the whole world. His magical smile and love will remain immortal in me.

I always have been an ardent believer of hard work and if I am given a chance to quote an example of an industrious person, the first name that comes to my mind is Prof. P Radhakrishnan. He is always a role model to me. His way of meticulously planning things and to implement them accordingly dazed me always. I always had the liberty to approach him at will with my doubts and paper corrections which he deals with great care and affection. I am indebted to him for giving me all the support and guidance through out my research career.

I don’t know how to express my gratitude to Prof.C P Girijavallabhan in giving me all the support, love and care during my research days at ISP. I believe that his aura is enough to revitalize ones research attitude. His tremendous knowledge both in science and current affairs is really fascinating. My research work would have been incomplete without the timely advice which I have received from him.

I sincerely thank Prof. V M Nandakumaran for his help and support. His valuable suggestions have helped me a lot in my research work. I am equally thankful to Mr. M. Kailasnath for timely help and encouragement. I greatly acknowledge the fruitful discussions with Dr. Rani Joseph and Dr. K.E. George of PS&RT department.

The financial assistance from CELOS, CUSAT, funded by UGC India is greatly acknowledged.

It would be unfair if I do not mention the help and assistance given to me by the non-teaching staff of ISP and CELOS. I remember them with gratitude.

Thanking my colleagues, I feel is the most difficult part. I know that there are many people who helped me morally through out my research days. Aneesh and Prashanth, without their help I couldn’t have materialized my dream of drawing polymer fibers. It was due to their timely help in raising fund for the fabrication of the fiber drawing tower saved my research sinking to abyss.

My seniors Unnikrishnan, Pramod, Benoy paul, Deepthy, Thomas Lee, Achama Kurian and Sajan, I remember them with gratitude. They are the people who helped me in taking my first steps to research. Unnikrishnan, with his quick-wit attitude always tried to comfort me whenever I get stuck in between my research. Sajan on the other hand was always helpful in resolving many experimental problems which I encountered. Thomas Lee who was my lab senior helped me to set up my experiments and encouraged me to get things done. Benoy Paul and Achama Kurian helped me in getting my polymerization experiments in track. If you have a sister to guide you in the right track, that’s the greatest blessing. Deepthy, I used to call her “Chechi”, whose valuable advice and care helped me to orient my research in the right direction.

To mention about my colleagues, Geetha was very supportive through out my research days at ISP. Through her sharp reasoning ability, she helped me to resolve many problems related to my research. Shanthi, and Sr. Ritty helped and encouraged me with fruitful suggestions.

I feel getting very good juniors is really a boon. Thomas is such a person whom I owe a lot. He helped me in relieving a lot of responsibility from me in managing the lab. This has in turn constructively affected my research career. Dann, Sajeev, Litty, parvathy and Lyjo need a special mention since they always were very supportive. I remember the wonderful moments with Abraham, Pravitha, Jyotsna, Bindu, Rekha, Santhi, Dilna, Sreeja, Jayasree and Suresh.

A friend in need is a friend indeed. I have quite a few friends who helped and supported me through out my research days. Jijo, Vinu, Rajesh, and Manu, are my beloved friends. I remember with gratitude the help and support given by Thomas of PS&RT.

Sheeba, I don’t have words to describe her support and care which has changed my research days to one of the colorful and fruitful episodes of my life.

Family is the most important supporting element in my research life. My Achan, Amma, Chechi, Chettan, Malu and Ammu, without their support I would not have even dreamt of achieving my goal.
