Acknowledgement

I express deep respect and gratitude to my supervisor Dr. Minati Panda for her relentless, timely and worthy guidance. The rich discussion sessions with her helped me immensely to put forth the study in its present shape. I am also grateful to Professor Sushila Singh who helped me in the initial years in framing the topic, guiding me through the selection of tools and scales, field study and data analysis.

I also take the opportunity to thank all the Faculty members of Zakir Hussain Centre for Educational Studies who have encouraged and pushed me forward towards the completion of this work and also supported and cheered me up during several ups and downs. My sincerest thanks to Professor Karuna Chanana, Professor Deepak Kumar, Professor Binod Khadria, Dr. Geetha B. Nambissan, Dr. Farida A. Khan and Dr. S. Srinivasa Rao.

I extend my deep gratitude to Professor Hueber (University of South Carolina, Columbia) and Professor Berzonsky (State university of New York, Cortland) who sent me materials across at the earliest possible time and which helped me immensely in giving new directions to the work.

My heartfelt respect and gratefulness to Dr. G.C.Pal who helped me in numerous ways through every stage of the study and gave needful advices. I also extend my thanks to Ghani Sir, Anil, Dayanand and above all Charanjit Ma'am. I thank Seema Ma'am for extending timely help to me in the DSA library.

I also acknowledge Sish Ma'am and Pintla Ma'am for the help and assistance they provided during the coding and analysing of data.

I am extremely grateful to the Principals, teachers and students of New Delhi run Municipality Schools of R.K.Puram sector I, II and IX, Kendriya Vidyalaya, JNU and sector I, R.K.Puram and Mothers International School who permitted me to conduct the field study and made themselves available whenever I needed their help.

My thanks to the staff of Central Library JNU, NCERT, NIEPA and UNICEF libraries for helping me to search for different materials, for permitting to use their library and also for making their facilities available to me.
I am deeply thankful to my parents who have supported, inspired and encouraged me to be patient and pushed me towards the completion of the thesis. Their belief in me was the biggest strength which helped the hard days seem light. Their patience with me as I traversed through the years made me more determined to do a worthy work.

My heartiest and sincerest thanks to my husband for always being there with me, even though several miles away. His support, understanding, caring, adjusting and loving nature inspired me through the most trying times. This work would not have borne the present shape without my better half's equal contribution.

I also express my gratitude to my parents-in-law and sister-in-law who stood by me, understood and inspired me relentlessly. My niece in her own little ways cheered me up and made me look forward to every new day.

To my friends, juniors and hostel mates I shall always remain grateful for their assistance, cooperation and emotional support. They were always available with a smiling face whenever I needed them.

Lastly, I sincerely thank Rajiv Sir for helping me with the typing and computer work of the thesis and giving it its final shape.

(Sushmita Chakraborty)