ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The task of acknowledging the immense debt of gratitude, which one owes to so many people, is perhaps the most pleasant aspect of writing a dissertation. Words alone are inadequate to convey my deep sense of gratitude towards my supervisor, Prof. V. Rajamani, Professor of Geology, School of Environmental Sciences for his affectionate guidance, incessant inspiration and constructive criticism at all stages of this work. His intellectual brilliance, analytical skills, innovative ideas, overwhelming experience and enthusiasm had been the path of light to the objective of this study. I am highly indebted for the encouragement infused in me by him to do research.

The author acknowledges his dependence on the Almighty God, Who upholds all things by the power of His might and Who is the source of all wisdom and knowledge.

I take this opportunity to acknowledge, Prof. Kasturi Datta, Prof. J.Behari and Prof. V.K.Jain, successive Deans, School of Environmental Sciences for providing the school facilities to me for this work.

I am thankful to Prof. A. K. Attri, and Dr. Saumitra Mukherjee SES, for their immaculate suggestions as well as for the affection shown towards me. I am extremely indebted to Dr. D. K. Pal and Dr. Tapas Bhattacharya for providing me an opportunity to learn the nuances of clay mineral separation and analysis in their laboratory. I am also thankful to Kamble ji and Durge ji for continuously assisting me during learning of clay mineral separation technique at NBSS, Nagpur. I acknowledge the help of Dr. S. Sensarma and Dr. V. P. Malviya (Scientist NFGR, SES) for helping me in the crucial stage of my thesis writing and preparation of figures and drawings. I am grateful to Dr. Shiva Siddaiah, WIHG, Dehradun, Prof. Steve Norwich (Sonoma State University), Dr. K. L. Pruseth (Pondicherry University), Dr. Sudesh Yadav (JNU, New Delhi), Dr. Anupam Sharma (BSIP, Lucknow), Dr. Pramod Singh (Pondicherry University), Dr.(Mrs) Meenal Mishra (BHU, Varanasi) and Dr. J.K. Tripathi (JNU, New Delhi) for giving me constant encouragement and mental support. I heartily acknowledge my dear friend Garima for her invaluable support and encouragement. I am thankful to Deepika and Sudha for their moral support.

The loving respectable attitude and their kind nature to help made me remember my juniors Akanksha and Tamogna. I am highly indebted to my friends, Ankit, Bibhuti, Prashant, Rupesh, Ravi, Kamna, Bhaswati, Prabeer, Rajneesh, Ramakant and Mishraji for their constant support and encouragement. I am also equally thankful to my seniors Umesh Singh, Sanjay Sharma, Anshumali, Shastri, Sandeep Gupta, Ragini, Sutapa Bose and Pawan Jha.

Friends and colleagues have contributed so immensely in realizing my work, that it cannot be expressed in words alone. Work and stay in JNU became a pleasure during the companionship of Dr .Sudesh, Ankit, Bibhuti, Mishraji and Malviya ji. Help of Malviya sir in proof reading is duly acknowledged. I am thankful to Dheeraj Bhaiya for just getting me relaxed out of tension at weak ends. The moral support and encouragement from my relatives especially from Badi Mami, Chhoti Mami and Chachaji is duly acknowledged.

I duly oblige the assistance extended to me by all the faculty members and staff of SES in my research work. Venket Sir, B. D. Sharma Sir are thanked for technical assistance during the work. Periswamy (Raju), Nakul and Babu Ram are thanked for their laboratory assistance and Ms. Maya for assistance provided during the preparation of this thesis. The refreshing tea, and coffee served by Yunus in the lab deserve a mention here.

I owe my thanks to my sister Priya for her supportive nature and for now and then asking me about my work and thesis submission. My father and mother have always been supportive in my endeavours. I am indeed grateful to my parents and sister Priya who have always encouraged me in pursuit of higher education. I owe my present status to my parents for their enduring patience.

Lastly, financial assistance provided to me by the DST New Delhi is gratefully acknowledged. I am solely responsible for any error in this thesis.

Pankaj Mehta