Acknowledgements

With a deep sense of gratitude, I would like to thank my supervisor and my mentor Prof. Rajiv Bhat. All throughout my journey of these many years, I have known him as a sympathetic, kind and enthusiastic person. His enthusiasm and views on research and his mission for providing high-quality work has made a deep impression in my mind. Throughout my stay in the lab, he was always accessible for any discussion. Because of his friendly nature, it is possible for me to be at this stage and I will be able to look further ahead towards the same direction. Without his valuable suggestions it would have been impossible to carry out this work the way it is. His enthusiasm and friendly nature has made the work pleasurable in the lab.

I express heartful gratitude to wonderful faculties at the School of Biotechnology. Prof. Rakesh Bhatnagar, Prof. Aprana Dixit, Prof. Santosh Kar, Prof. Uttam Pati, Prof. K. J. Mukharjee, Dr. Devapriya Choudhary, Dr. Maitra, Dr. Ranjana Arya, Dr. Swati Tiwari and Dr. M. S. Rajala for their constant support.

I would like to thank my parents, sweet sister Roli, my loving sister-in-laws, Anuradha, Mamta di and late Samta di and my in laws for their endless blessings, love and their untiring support that proved to be a stress buster for me. They were always there besides me to encourage me whenever I needed them the most. Words will not be enough to thank them. My special thank goes to my best friend and my life partner, my husband Kulbhushan. Without his help, this thesis would not have been in the presentable shape as I can see it today. He was always there along with me during entire Ph.D. period and provided me support and strength. His constant love, support and guidance helped me to survive even in the most adverse conditions.

I am also thankful to my labmates, Neeraj, Saurabh, Manish, Rajni, Dhiraj, Suman, Dileep, Aruna, Shanti, Akash, Sinjan, Om Prakash, Himanshu, Praveen, Santosh, Saurabh Yadav and Rahul who made my stay compatible and comfortable in the lab.
