Nothing can be moulded in its proper form without the support of many hands at different levels. I am indebted to many such supports at all corners to have cherished my ideas to take the form of this thesis.

I pay my homage to my former guide Late Dr. J. Srijhari Rao who lit the torch and showed me the path. In spite of all sufferings he registered me and till his last breath took the helm. It is his blessings that have nurtured me to complete this comprehensive work.

First and foremost, I extend my sincere gratitude to my esteemed supervisor Dr. [Mrs.] Meenakshi Verma, Professor and Head, Department of English, Government Science College, Raipur [C. G.] who replaced my former guide, the Late Dr. J. Srijhari Rao. She has been my archangel, I was at the feet of Samasiel and it was her encyclopaedic knowledge, wisdom, support, loving kindness and encouragement which gave me moral and intellectual strength to do my work. Her easy availability, humble and affectionate guidance is far beyond gratitude, I can pay. It is no formality when I say that if my work is estimable then the credit goes to Dr. (Mrs.) Meenakshi Verma.

I acknowledge my indebtedness to my respected parents-in-law Mr. D. S. Mishra and Mrs. Sharda Mishra, brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law whose love, concern and interest in my academic activities have always been a source of strength and support to me.

I am grateful to my husband Mr. Jagdish Mishra, his deep involvement in this project helped me to shed my depression and fear. His benevolence has through out been a pillar of emotional support and strength to me. Without his helping hand and constant boosting I think it would not have been easy for me to complete my work. I owe individual special thanks to my adorable precious daughters Aakrishi and Sweekriti. They have been very co-operative, least demanding and independent to manage their needs. They have been very adjusting, understanding and caring. I have been greatly beholden by the sacrifice and patronage of my family, as they exempted me from all domestic duties and patiently contributed to keep me going straight in my path.
