Acknowledgements

I would like to thank the many people who helped me to bring this project to fruition.

First of all, my utmost thanks are due to Dr. G. Muraleedhara Kurup, Professor of Biochemistry, School of Biosciences, who suggested the problem for the study, very generously supervised the project, and improved the embryonic manuscript in many ways to enhance the didactic value.

I also thank Dr. Shankar Shashidhar, Director, School of Biosciences, for earnestly extending the gracious help academically as well as administratively to ensure smooth progress in this work.

I am greatly indebted to Dr. Ramadasan Kuttan and Dr. Girija Kuttan, Amala Cancer Research Centre, Thrissur, for kindly providing me carcinogens, cell lines and other materials and giving me solicited and unsolicited advise for the present study.

I would like to thank Dr. A. Vijayalakshmi, Retd. Professor of Pathology, Medical College Hospital, Kottayam, for her help in interpreting the histopathological sections.

I owe my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. C. Arunan, Analytical Instrument Technician, School of Chemical Sciences, and Dr. Cyriac Joseph, Technical Assistant, School of Pure and Applied Physics, Mahatma Gandhi University, for their skillful assistance in taking and editing the photographs for the thesis.

I acknowledge with deep appreciation the unaccountable help, versatile dedication and commitment rendered by Mr. Jacob Varghese Biboy, Miss. G. Jayashree, Mrs. Letha Sukumaran and Dr. (Mrs.) Salomy Kunjumon. When I was in the troubles of the seas, it was they who directed me to the shore.

I am very much thankful to Mr. P. D. Jose, Mr. T. L. Chandran, Mr. Rejimon Jacob, T. S. Bose and other teaching and non teaching staff of the School of Biosciences, for their valuable help rendered throughout the project.

My thanks are due to Mr. Robin, MIS Copy Write, Ettumanoor, for meticulous word-processing of this thesis.

I owe special thanks to particular individuals and friends who provided logistical support, encouragement and for serving as my keenest critic of style and language in editing the manuscript.

Sreejith K.