Every fruit of success is analogous to a particular mode of labour or at times a team of labourious heads. My achievement concurs with the second. This Thesis embodies a stock of fruitful suggestions for which I humbly owe each one of them a special word of praise.

At the outset I extend my deep sense of gratitude right from the core of my heart to Dr. (Mrs.) Madhoo Kamra. The unfathomable zeal, earnest help and tremendous perseverance of my honourable guide compelled me to enrich my research work and help me to gain the light of success. I am really grateful to her for sparing me hours in midst of strenuous regular college routine. In this study and discussion I have explored a completely new world- a world of knowledge, of wisdom, of books and of perception. I am really influenced by her immense care and deep dedication for work and her care and worry for her beloved students. She is not only my guide but also a flame of hope in my life which will continue to show me the world of success.

I also want to give thanks to all the members of the National Library, Kolkata, specially to Mrs. Tithi Sen, British Council Library, Kolkata, the library of Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University and Durga Mahavidyalaya, for helping me to find the necessary materials related to my research work.
Though love and affection cannot be expressed in words, yet I take this opportunity to convey my deep personal devotion and attachment to my dear ‘Mummy’ and ‘Papa’ for their constant inspiration. In each and every phone call they religiously motivated me to bring out the best in me. They are my power, my anchor and my strength, without their care I am incomplete. My sense of gratitude and indebtedness are also due to elder brother Mr. Mrinmoy Maiti for his constant and incessant motivation.

The help and good wishes of my friends Rohit, Manjusha, Anjali are worth praise too. They encouraged me at the tough hours of jotting down my thoughts, supplying me with proper words when I searched for apt words in vain.

And last but not least my special thanks to Sir Sarang V. Mukadam for his typing job till late night. His patience and meticulous efforts helped me to complete the thesis within the scheduled time.

And above all thanks to the Almighty God, with whose blessings every thing is miraculously and infinitely advantageous.
