ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is great pleasure to express my sincere thankfulness to all those who have helped me during the course of this investigation. I feel it is pride and privilege to express my deep sense of gratitude to my major supervisor Prof. R. K. Sharma for his excellent guidance. His critical comments and suggestions at different stages helped me to sharpen the ideas. He was my source of inspiration all along the course of study and investigation. Prof. Sharma acted as a fatherly figure when I was at difficult conditions. His personal interest on my work and moral encouragement motivated me to complete this Herculean task on time. He provided an opportunity and ambience to learn many things and practice at JNU. It was a wonderful experience in terms of academic excellence. I shall carry the memory of my relation with him during this doctoral programme forever.

I am also grateful to my co-supervisor Dr. Brajesh Jha, Reader, Institute of Economic Growth for having fruitful discussion on certain technical aspects of the problems. I have benefited from his knowledge in this subject of research. He also helped me to avail all the facilities at the institute.

My heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Pratap S Birthal, Senior Agricultural Economist, NCAP, for strengthening the academic interest in me right from the day I was associated with him as Research Associate. His in-depth knowledge in livestock economics provided me useful insights at different stages of my research. He helped me to establish fruitful contacts with several persons. I also thank him for sharing some data for my research. I deeply owe to Dr. Anjani Kumar, Agricultural Economist, NCAP, for providing research inputs and moral support during the course of my research. He also helped me to access all the facilities at NCAP.
I am grateful to Prof. Ravi Srivastava, Dr. Atul Sood, Dr. Sucharita Sen and Prof. Kulkarni for having lively discussion on my work during the pre-submission seminar. I sincerely thank Prof. G. S. Bhalla for his moral encouragement. I also thank other faculty members of CSRD for providing various kinds of help during the course of my study and investigation.

I extend my sincere thanks to Prof. B. B. Bhattacharya, Director, Institute of Economic Growth (IEG), for providing all the facilities to do my research at the Institute. His special interest on me during the initial periods helped to keep my learning interest alive. I have immensely benefited from the discussions with Dr. Ramesh Chand during his tenure at IEG. It is also my pleasure for having associated with Ms. Seema Bathla. I used to draw inspiration from her progress in academics. I sincerely acknowledge the help provided Dr. Arup Mitra. I thank Dr. Pamod Kumar for having useful discussions on my research. I also thank all the other technical and non-technical staff for their kind cooperation and help. My special thanks goes to Mr. Sushil Kumar Sen, Academic Programme Officer.

I am deeply grateful to all the officials of State Cooperative Milk Marketing Federations (Punjab, Gujarat, Kerala and Orissa) for their kind cooperation during my visit to collect data. It is great pleasure to express my sincere gratitude to Bibhu and his family for making my visit to Bhubaneshwar a memorable. The brotherly treatment of his elder brother at Bhubaneshwar and sonly treatment of his parents at village made my stay very comfortable. I deeply owe to Mr. Rajadurai for taking pains to make my visit to Anand useful.

I extend my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Bill Thorpe, Asia Regional Representative, ILRI for providing an opportunity to work with him. His ideas and constructive criticism helped me to rethink certain issues very critically. I owe to him for making efforts to build a challenging character in me. His sonly treatment, moral encouragement and flexibility in work helped me to complete this work.

My friends are always the source of motivation. I am really fortunate to have a friend like Bibhu at JNU. Though it is difficult to elucidate about his help here, but it is for my memory that he was with me whenever I was in difficult position. I fondly remember my academic discussions with Manoj. Bibhu and Manoj’s encouragement and moral support helped me to tide over many problems and complete this work. My cordial thanks are to Mayil, Siva Sankar, Ramesh, Prabhkar, Senthil Kumar, Ajay, Ganapathy, Guna, Sarves, Jagan, Amirudden, Srinivasan, Thiru, Raghavan, Selvam, Mahalingham, Singham, Niranjan, Robin, Tinu, Punitha and Tamil for making my stay at JNU comfortable. I have also enjoyed the company of Mondira, Nandini and Yash. I owe to ‘dairy economists’ friends at NDRI Saravana Kumar, Ravindran, Rangasamy and Elamurugannan who clarified many conceptual issues during the course of work. I am grateful to Bhoopathi, Ulag, Gauthaman, Shanmugam, Prasath, Bala, Sathappan and Gopal for their moral support and encouragement.

I acknowledge with pleasure the Indian Council of Social Sciences Research (ICSSR), New Delhi for granting me the Institutional Doctoral Fellowship during the course of my research. This immensely helped me to pursue my research work sincerely.

No word of mine can adequately express my indebtedness to my parents and family members whose blessings and constant encouragement keep my aim always high.

New Delhi
October 2005

K. ELUMALAI