Acknowledgement

This piece of work will never be accomplished without the God Almighty with his blessings and his power that work within me and also without the people behind my life for inspiring, guiding and accompanying me through thick and thin. It is a pleasant aspect that I have now got the opportunity to express my gratitude for all of them.

I want to thank “Veer Narmad South Gujarat University, Surat” for giving me permission to commence this thesis in the first instance, to do the necessary research work.

It is great for me to offer my deepest sense of gratefulness and obligation to my preceptor and guide Dr. Upendra T. Desai, Principal, Sir K. P. College of Commerce, Surat. I will never find the words to thank him for his time, the only thing in the world I cannot buy, and I must regret the fact that I will have little chance to pay him back for all his personal dedication of all the things I owe to him, I will just mention confidence, almost blind confidence, when he accepted to guide me. His perpetual energy and enthusiasm in research had motivated all his advisers, including me. In addition, he was always accessible and willing to help his students with their research. As a result, research life became smooth and rewarding for me.

I would like to thank “Kantha Vibhag Navnirman Mandal and D.R. Patel & R.B. Patel Commerce College, Bharthana (Vesu), Surat” for extending co-operation and providing necessary facilities during my research work.
I wish to express my warm and sincere thanks to Smt. Avnindra H. Dixit (Principal I/C, D. R. Patel and R. B. Patel Commerce College, Bharthana) for her constant support and encouragement.

I am profoundly obliged to Shri Rajesh J. Khalasi (Vice Principal I/C, D. R. Patel and R. B. Patel Commerce College, Bharthana) for teaching a philosophy of life. He always inspires how to face and fight against difficulties. His moral support really helps me a lot.

I have a big sense of gratitude to Shri Brijesh S. Patel (Senior Assistant Professor, D. R. Patel & R. B. Patel Commerce College, Bharthana) for the time he spent with me and the patient answers to my questions on his respective indices. I can say that he is not only my best friend but like my brother and well-wisher also. During the research work, he always stands behind me to support.

I owe my deepest gratitude to Dr. Gaurang D. Rami (Reader, Economics Department, VNSGU) for encouragement and support from the initial to the final level enabled me to develop an understanding of the subject.

I would like to record my gratitude to my preceptor brother Dr. Mehul P. Desai (Vice Principal I/C, Udhna Commerce College) and Shri Kalpesh Kansara (Assistant Professor, Udhna Commerce College) for his moral support and useful suggestions during the study.
I am also grateful to Dr. Hitesh Parmar (Assistant Professor, DBIM, VNSGU) for providing guideline regarding statistical tool and techniques.

I am also grateful to the teaching and non-teaching staff members of my college who helped me directly or indirectly.

I am obliged to each of my respondents for giving their feedback without bias regarding questionnaires.

I am also grateful to Shri Dipak R. Shah who has generously devoted his time to do grammatical corrections in this thesis.

My deepest gratitude goes to my family for their unflagging love and support throughout my life; this dissertation is simply impossible without them. I feel a deep sense of gratitude for my late grandfather Late Shri Mohanlal J. Desai and grandmother Late Smt. Pushpaben M. Desai who formed part of my vision and taught me the good things that really matters in life. The happy memory of them still provides a persistent inspiration for my journey in this life. I am sure they share our joy and happiness in the heaven (paradise).

I would also thank to my in-laws Shri Anish B. Desai and Smt. Sangita A. Desai for accepting me as a member of their family and their thoughtful support.

Shri Kiran B. Naik and Smt. Minaxi K. Naik have always been a constant source of encouragement during my life. They are like my spiritual (religious) father and mother.
I am deeply indebted to my elder brother Shri Chaitanya K. Desai. I feel proud of my brother for his talents. He has been a role model for me to follow unconsciously when I was a teenager and has always been one of my best counselors.

I am thankful to my brother in-law Vatsal who has done my all outdoor works when I could not spent time due to the research work.

Words fail me to express my appreciation to the partner of my each moment, my beloved wife Dinkal whose dedication, love and persistent confidence in me has taken the load off my shoulder. I owe her for being unselfishly let her intelligence, passions, and ambitions collide with mine. Without her encouragement and understanding it would not have been possible for me to finish this work.

Last but not the least, I become speechless while speaking about my son Kavir. His loving and innocent smile takes away all the stings of mine. His Dance, style of playing cricket and one word “Pappa” always makes me relaxed. He is my strength, spirit and passion. I am deeply thankful to him.

Ashish K. Desai