Contents

Introduction: 1

Exploring Territoriality and its Histories
- Territory
- Meanings of Frontier

Chapter One:
The Making of a Frontier: Empire Wars, Political Unrest, Territorialisation 25
- Pre-War 'Connected History': Mobility, Trade, War
- Pre-War Developments
- The War
- British Official Narratives of the War
- The War and its Critics
- Producing the Frontier
- Conclusion

Chapter Two:
'Small Wars' and the Unsettled Frontier 85
- Resisting Colonial Expansion in the Khasi and Garo Hills
- The Threatened Frontier
- Conclusion

Chapter Three:
Settling the North-Eastern Frontier 113
- Colonial Administration or Native Rule?: Scott's Plan
- Making of a violent Frontier: Conciliatory Practices with the Chiefs
- Alliance with Gambhir Singh: Cachar and the Boundary Question
- Reorganising the Frontier
- Conclusion

Chapter Four:
Boundary Making: Kabaw Valley and the Politics of Colonial Mediation 168
- Questions of Territory and the Colonial Presence
- Imagining the pre-colonial and the politics of Surveying and Mapping
From Territory to Boundary: Setting up the stage
The Negotiation
The transfer of Kabaw Valley
Conclusion

Chapter Five:

Practices of Frontier Regime
Beginning of the Frontier Discourse
North-East: The Ambiguities of Frontier
Interrogating Frontier Policy
Displaying British Power
One against Another
Conclusion

Chapter Six:

Colonial Classifications: Anthropological Knowledge and Colonial Control
The world of the 'hill tribes'
Hierarchy within the 'tribe'
Hill versus Plain dwellers
Defying Classifications
Affinity between Anthropology and Colonial control
Genealogy of Ethnography in the Frontier
Conclusion

Chapter Seven:

Origin Narratives and Territoriality
Racial Origins and Racial Geographies
Multiple Theories and Standardised Origin narrative
Narrating 'Origin'
Origin, Evidence, Narrative

Conclusion:

Beyond Territoriality and Ethnic Identity

Bibliography