ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First and foremost I wish to express my deep gratitude to my guide Mr. S.R. Phal, Reader and Head of the Department of Sociology, Goa University. He took keen interest in generating independent research oriented thinking in me. Without his constant and continuous interest in my work, his unfailing encouragement and painstaking guidance, this present work would not have attained the final shape. I remember him with gratitude and I owe him a lot.

It is a matter of great satisfaction and happiness to remember the guidance and encouragement provided by Dr. R. Parthasarathy, Associate Professor of Psychiatric social work, NIMHANS, Bangalore. I am at a loss of words to appropriately convey my sense of gratitude towards him. I express my heart felt thanks to him.

I wish to express my gratitude to Dr. M. Ranganathan, Assistant Professor of Psychiatric social work, NIMHANS, Bangalore, for his constant encouragement until the completion of my thesis and also for his help during my stay at Bangalore. I am immensely grateful to him and his family.

I love to remember all the faculty and staff members from the Department of Psychiatric social work, NIMHANS, especially, Dr. I.A. Shariff, Dr.G. Nardev, Dr. Rao, Dr. Muralidhar, Dr. Sekhar, Mrs. Zareena, Mr. Senthathan and Mr. Chandra Sekhar Rao, for their valuable suggestions and help during my stay at Bangalore.
I gratefully acknowledge the help extended by Mr. Anantharaman and his family, during my stay at Bangalore.

I am especially grateful to Dr. John Fernandes, Director of I.P.H.B, Panjim, for his co-operation and support to carry out this research work.

I am indebted to my friends and colleagues in I.P.H.B, for their help at different stages of the work, especially Mrs. Mangala kadam, Mr. K.S. Patil, Dr. Mit:a Majumdar, Dr. Medha Savordekar and Dr. Pushpa Duckle.

I wish to express my gratitude to Mr. Srinivasa Rao and Mr. Sudhakar for the Preparation of my thesis.

I thank Mr. Chacko, my friend, for his suggestions and help.

I wish to thank the librarians in Goa University Library and also all the staff members, who helped me at different stages of my research work.

My specific thanks go to Mr. M.N. Ninan, my husband, for his support and readiness to help me from the beginning till the completion of my thesis. Without his co-operation, I would not have completed this work.
This acknowledgment will be incomplete without the re-collection of the co-operation of the patients and their relatives, the essential ingredients, of this study.

Finally I thank all those persons who extended their help for the completion of my thesis.
