ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my immense pleasure to express my deep sense and everlasting gratitude and respect to my guide Dr. R.N. Dey, Reader in Exercise Physiology, for his keen interest for the study, insight, deep scholarship, critical supervision, noble guidance and continuous encouragement given to me. Without his help I would not have been successfully carried out this thesis. Throughout the course he has been the source of inspiration, a spring of motivation and a reservoir of wisdom.

I sincerely feel grateful to Prof. Ajmer Singh, Ex-Dean, and Dr. A.K. Uppal, the present Dean, of Lakshmibai National College of Physical Education, Gwalior, for the encouragement bestowed upon me for undertaking the study as well as for precious suggestions and technical advice very kindly given for this work.

Mr. Debasish Mukherjee, Bampada Mukherjee, S. Ghosh, T. Chakraborty, S. Banerjee, and Prosad Ji, Pathologist, Angarpathera Hospital, Dhanbad have been very helpful to me in the collection of data. I am indebted to them.

Various clubs, organisations and welfare associations who arranged and helped in data collection are sincerely acknowledged.

The subjects of this study who have been very cooperating, sincere, enthusiastic in responding to my instructions, I thank them very sincerely.

The library staff of Lakshmibai National College of Physical Education, Gwalior, Indian Statistical Institute, Calcutta, Patuliputra Medical College, Bihar, Indian School of Mines, Dhanbad and C.M.R.S. Dhanbad helped me very much by providing the required literature. I am grateful to them all.

Scholar wishes to acknowledge his sincere thanks to Dinobandhu Mondal, Ph.D. Scholar, I.S.I. Calcutta, Soumen Ghosh, Lakshminarayam Kaiborta, M.Phil scholars, Amit Banerjee and Sandeep Dey of MPE Final and Previous classes for their sincere and timely help in statistical analysis and completing the work.

The author expresses his sincere thanks and appreciation to Dr. J.P. Verma, Lecturer of Statistics for the guidance and assistance for statistical calculation.

I extend my thanks to my brothers, sisters, colleagues and to my best friend Jeepa for having helped me in whatever ways possible.

Last but not the least thanks to Chhaya the better half, who remained the least demanding during the crucial period of work and really proved herself worthy of the name.

R.B.
