ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is impossible for me to express adequately my indebtedness to Prof. J.P. Sharma, the academician, a connoisseur and the teacher ‘par excellence’ as the supervisor of this study. His constructive criticism and erudite suggestions have been instrumental in leading this research to its logical conclusion. I shall remain indebted to Prof. Sharma for his keen interest, invaluable guidance and intellectual stimulation I have drawn from him and this would remain a beacon throughout my life. I am grateful to him for his constant encouragement for the completion of this study.

The words are insufficient to express my gratitude to Prof. K.V. Bhanu Murthy, (Head, Department of Commerce) for his constant cooperation. His cooperation in becoming my co-supervisor at the end moment is greatly appreciated.

I would like to thank Prof. J.D. Agarwal, Chairman and Professor of Finance, Indian Institute of Finance and Editor-in-Chief, Finance India for his comments and suggestions from time to time to improve this work.

My thanks are also due to the staff members of the Department, Ratan Tata Library, South Campus Library, University of Delhi, Central Reference Library, Rajdhani College and Indian Institute of Finance for extending all the help and cooperation.

A lot of credit for completion of this work goes to my family for their moral support at every stage of this work. Last but not the least, I place on record my sincere acknowledgement for the immense benefit I have derived from the work of various authors, which has enriched my understanding of the subject.

(Megha Agarwal)
