This thesis would not have been possible if it was not for the help and support of many.

I am extremely grateful to my supervisor Prof. G. J. V. Prasad whose invaluable comments and patience have helped me put this thesis together. Not only for his help in this endeavour but his views and insights in class during my M. A and M. Phil have changed the way I look at life itself.

My heartfelt gratitude to Ms. Manjari, Aunty Mallika, Ms. Rajasingham, Ms. Welgampola, the English Department at Miranda House (2000-2003) and the Centre for English Studies, JNU (2004-2007) who laid the foundation for my intellectual development.

To Mr. Thambirajah, Lakmali, and the rest of the staff at ICES library who were always ready to help.

I am grateful to Nandita Das who took time off her busy schedule to answer questions on her role in the movie Kannathil Muthamittal.

My deepest gratitude goes out to my parents who have made me who I am today. To my mother who has done so much for me which cannot be put down in words and to my father for being patient with a daughter who wanted to study endlessly. Also to my sisters Loku and Punchi and my brothers in law- Bandu and Mahesh for all the encouragement, support and help.

I am also extremely grateful for the support extended by my paternal Aunt and Uncle, Rienzil Loku Thathi and Stephanie Nandi. My maternal Aunts Pampi, Chuchu and Chanchi for all the encouragement and support. To Shantha Bappi who predicted the birth of this thesis long ago and was very proud of me. To Lakshman Bappi who has dropped me at various classes so many times.
I am indebted to Aunty Varuni and Uncle Rohan who encouraged me to pursue my studies further at all times.

To Bavi who helped me to translate Tamil into English, Nish who so kindly sent me articles which I needed from Colombo to Delhi and Charlene who has not only been a great roommate and friend but also a constructive critic of my work.

To the Khera family in Delhi: Dadi, Aunty Anu, Uncle Abu, Appu, Arjun, Gypsy and Elsa who provided me with a home away from home. Especially Aunty Anu, for her unconditional love and care.

Also to my nephew Shanuk who provided all the comic relief and love that was needed to get me going during severe disruptions in life while writing this thesis.

The emotional support provided by my childhood friends has to be mentioned here. My heartfelt gratitude goes out to Nissi, Pam, DD, Nads and Mayu who have stood by me all the way. Sisters come in many forms.

My heartfelt gratitude goes out to Shannon, for understanding when it was impossible to understand and for being my doppelganger on whom I could always lean on.

A very special thank you to Ashish, for being my strength, for all the encouragement, patience and love above all.
