Help cometh from the Lord which made heaven and earth. Ps. 121.2.

Therefore I begin to thank them who helped me for my thesis, Dear Lord! let me feel it is your love that has brought them near to me and be of great help.

My thesis, has taken shape to this stage due to

1. S.C. Goswami, who willingly agreed to take me as his student and guided me throughout.

2. E. Desa, Director, NIO gave the place to work, encouragement to continue and complete my work.

3. Wafar, my intellectual Boss, I am so desperate to get his classic touch at every point of my thesis and his obligation, which I did not completely deserve, all made me to say h! I am so fortunate that I had him for my thesis.

4. D. Chandramohan, who tolerated me so much and never denied anything to help me complete the thesis.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Dr. Mohandass, Sheelu and Pradeep for their timely help.

I thank my dear friends, Thamban, Sukumar, Balakrishnan, Jayakumar, Jason, Ilango, Ravindran, Jayasree, Judith, Saji every one is so important that I do not know whom I should owe most of my gratitude.

I thank Cheryl, for being there to lend me the moral support at any point of time.

Besides the scientific help and the emotional attention got from them I mentioned above, also thank people from whom I derived technical help. I thank all of them who helped me in drawings, xeroxing, printing etc. That amounts much too!

Though I did not mention every one by name, my sincere thanks goes to many senior colleagues in BOD and within the Institute who contributed in so many ways for the completion of my work.

This list, I feel is hardly complete, in terms of the quantity of help I derived from people who are concerned to me, whom I did not mention is not due to negligence but the proximity I have with them I owe it to their perfect love that tells me no matter who you are, you matter to us.
