I am extremely fortunate to work under the guidance of Dr. P.K. Dave, Associate Professor, Department of Economics, Gujarat University. I owe him a great deal for having agreed to take me as his student and for his constant input of help and encouragement during the course of this study.

My sincere thanks are due to Dr. V.P. Bharadwaj, Director, School of Social Sciences, Gujarat University whose calm disposition is a source of inspiration for me.

Prof. Gurdev Singh and Prof. Vijay Paul Sharma of the Centre for Management in Agriculture (CMA) at the Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad contributed immensely to my understanding of the problem taken up for the study and clearing the methodological tangles. I am greatly indebted to them.

In moments of low I looked up to Mr. S.N. Chokshi, my senior colleague who with his words of wisdom pulled me up and egged me on to complete the work. My heartfelt thanks go to him.
