ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the process of bringing this thesis in its present form, many people were involved directly or indirectly. It is a pleasure to convey my gratitude to all of them in my humble acknowledgement.

The scintilla of writing on “Demographic Study with Special Reference to Reproductive and Child Health among Chiru Tribe of Manipur” was instilled in me by Prof. M.P. Sachdeva, Department of Anthropology, University of Delhi. He gave me an impulse to work on the topic per se. I deemed it my privilege to be vocalic for the heart felt sense of gratitude and highest veneration for the instrumentality in not only undertaking the theme but for shaping the thesis from time to time by valuable suggestions, glaring ideas and laconic academic exchange. No words of gratitude would be adequate to express profound sense of indebtedness that I owe to Prof. M.P. Sachdeva. I always bow down my head before his profound pedantry and unfathomable wisdom in this field of Anthropological Demography. Without his constant inspiration and guidance this thesis would not have seen the light of day.

I am thankful to and Prof. S. L. Malik, Head of the Department and Prof. P.K. Gosh, former head of the department for their necessary help during this work. I owe my most sincere gratitude to Dr. Gautam Kshatriya and Dr. K.N. Saraswathy for their invaluable advice and suggestions as an advisor.

I acknowledge the deep felt sense of gratitude for emotional, intellectual and otherwise co-operative affinity of all those who manifestly or clandentially more or less contributed in accomplishing my work. I have been immensely helped by people of the Chiru villages. I am indebted to them for their love and co-operation. I could not mention all the names but I have failed if I could not mention any. Warm thanks to, Thangsimhoi who accompanied me throughout my field work in Bungte Chiru, without giving a damn to the weather condition. Thanks to Thangkhup, Leo, Sosang, Linda, Allen, Merenmai who offered me the generous hospitality and brighten up many moments in the field and without whom this work would have been an impossible task. Thanks to my uncles, Yumnam Dilipkumar and Devanada who were help out in conducting field work in Chiru villages. I am indebted to Mr. Allar Thoitak (the former president of Chiru Tribal Union) for allowing me to conduct the field work at Chiru villages.

Thanks to Dr. Md Asghar and Dr. Sanjenbam Yaiphaba for their help in statistical analysis and their painstaking indefatigable efforts in going through the manuscripts to avoid grammatical and reference error which help me to prune out many crudities of style and diction. Thanks to my friends Thongam Romita, Yendrenbam Sunnarita and Sougaijam Megamala for helping during my field work and their co-operation.

My friends far and near, have were a source of strength during this process. My peers in the doctoral process, Dr. Oinam Hemlata, Dr. Deepti Saksena, Thoudam Ronald, Ngangbam Pratima, Naorem Monika were instrumental in making me realize that they are there for me. Thanks to my colleague Amrta Roy, N. Achoubi, Kh. Somibabu, K Sonia for their support and co-operation during the venture of this research work.

I wish to express my gratitude to my parents, brothers and sisters for always having confidence in me, encouraging me to pursue my interest and for their unstinting support throughout.

Yumnam Luxmi Devi

September, 2012