Acknowledgement

"Thank You" is a very small word which would not be enough for my expression of gratitude. This research and thesis would have not materialized if I did not have the love, support, and encouragement from a number of people and it is an honour and pleasure to thank all those who made it possible. This is an impossible task, given the many people who have helped to design, implement, apply, criticize and support the work. I would like to thank each and everyone who supported me directly and indirectly. I am going to try anyway, and if your name is not listed, rest assured that my gratitude is not less than for those listed below. your words and suggestions often boosted my courage and determination to write this thesis and helped me to grow as a human being.

First and foremost, I thank my supervisor Dr.H.S.Prabhakar, for his continuous support in the Ph.D. program. He was always there to listen and give advice. He is responsible for imbibing my interest in Japanese studies and involving me inspite of my initial hiccups in the first place. He taught me how to express my ideas and showed me different ways to approach a research problem and the need to be persistent to accomplish any goal. He brought me closer to reality I had initially perceived, eventually enabling me to grasp its rich complexity. His comments on chapter drafts are themselves a course in critical thought upon which I will always draw. His capacity to combine critique with an immediate empathy and commitment will always inspire me. Amid the laughter and chapter drafts; he was always there to offer quiet encouragement, at times embarrass me by his own extraordinary kindness.

I owe my deepest gratitude to our Chairperson Prof. Lalima Varma, who has been a constant source of support and guidance from my M.Phil days. Her simple way of teaching has made me digest even the complicated issues of Japanese culture and society.

I am grateful to Dr.Srabani Roy Choudhury, for her support and understanding nature. I would like to thank Dr.Srikanth Kondapalli, Dr. Varaprasad Sekhar, Dr. Alka Acharya and Dr.Jitendra Uttam for their valuable and intellectual suggestions from the time of drafting the synopsis, till the time of submission of this thesis.

I take this opportunity to thank the UGC for providing me with Rajiv Gandhi National Fellowship, to meet my financial requirements.
I am indebted to many of my friends Abhay for his friendly and supporting nature, Aditya Prakash for editing this work, Nabeel, Hari, Leena, Deepti, Dr. Gopal, and Dr. K.R. Naik who have always supported me throughout. I would like to show my gratitude to the staff of CEAS, Mrs. Bhagwati Pant, Mr. Harish Oberoi and Mr. Ajit Singh.

I would like to thank my family; especially my parents for educating me and their unconditional support and encouragement to pursue my interests, in the field of education which I desired. I would like to thank my brother Manjunath who made his support available in a number of ways. I thank my aunt for her patience, in taking care of me and my family especially my baby; during my last phase of submission. I also thank my in-laws for their continuous support and encouragement.

Finally, I would like to thank two special people in my life without whom my life is unthinkable. My husband Mr. Prasad Naik Hamsavath for all the support that he gave me during the years I have been working on this thesis, especially all the holidays that he arranged to give me time to write, to think and to talk to him about this subject even though he is from a different academic background. Thank you ‘Chanti’ for tolerating me, for listening to my complaints and frustrations, and for believing in me, for reminding me that my research should always be useful and serve good purpose. I would like to thank my little angel Delicia for being a source of joy in this busy and stressful life.

For any errors or inadequacies that may remain in this work, of course, the responsibility is entirely my own. I Thank God and thank all those who helped me in this exciting endeavor.
