Acknowledgement

The task of acknowledging the help, moral support and the immense debt of gratitude I owe to so many people is not an easy one. It gives me hearty pleasure to thank all the persons who have helped me academically and otherwise in completing this thesis.

It is not possible to express my gratitude towards my supervisor, Prof. Alokesh Barua, for his unvarying support, warm encouragement, critical analysis and priceless suggestions at all stages of my thesis work in mere words. It would not have been possible for me to complete this exercise without his supervision and constant encouragement, especially during the difficult phases of life. I will always consider working under him as a special privilege.

I also express my deep gratitude to all the faculty members at the International Trade and Development Division, SIS, JNU for their constant help and encouragement since 1998, when I first joined the division for the Masters Programme. The decade-long association with ITD since then has been both academically enriching and intellectually stimulating, to say the least. I owe my present status to the guidance received from the faculties of the ITD Division.

I have received critical comments and helpful suggestions on the earlier versions of my research work from many persons, to whom I shall always remain grateful. I am indebted to Prof. Aparna Sawhney, Dr. Prasenjit Sarkhel, Dr. Bibek Ray Chaudhuri, Dr. Arindam Bandyopadhyay, Prof. Jayashree Roy, Dr. Prabal Kr. De, Dr. Biswajit Nag, Prof. Asok Barman and Dr. Sacchidananda Mukherji who have helped me through their valuable suggestions during various phases of my thesis work. I am also grateful to Prof. Rahul Mukherji, Prof. Dipankar Sengupta, Mr. D. S. Babu and Dr. Nilanjan Banik for their supports and constant encouragements.

I thank all the staff members of JNU Library for their constant help. In addition, for the purpose of the study, I had to consult various libraries of Delhi from time to time. These include the libraries of the Ministry of Commerce, National Council of Applied Economic Research, Indian Council of World Affairs, Research and Information System, Indian Council for Research on International Economic Relations, European Commission, Central Statistical Organization and Indian Institute of Foreign Trade. I express my sincere gratitude to the Librarian and staff members of the above-mentioned Libraries.

My seniors and friends have always been extremely cooperative and words alone are simply inadequate to express my feelings towards them. I gratefully acknowledge the help and encouragement received from Aniruddhada, Jaydeepda and Arnabda. I also thank my friends and juniors, Arup, Animesh, Anandajit, Pritam, Ritwik, Anjali, Hariprasad, Anindya, Sovan, Subhodip and Pavel for the ideas that originated from the vibrant discussions with them.

Last but not the least; I am grateful to my mother, wife Anushree and sister Kasturi for always patiently tolerating my cerebral absence during conversations while the thesis work was on!!

My father would have been the happiest person, had he been alive today. I dedicate the thesis to him.

Debashis Chakraborty