Acknowledgement

As I stand at the top of a pile of fellow researchers attempting to write a thesis, words fail to describe my feeling. All I can firmly say is that writing a thesis is an exhilarating ride for a researcher. Simply put, the duration that a researcher takes to complete a thesis tests him in every way possible. I have been tested mentally, physically, emotionally and academically while writing this work over the last 5 years. By this time, I worked with a great number of people whose contribution in assorted ways to the research and the making of the thesis deserves special mention. It is a pleasure to convey my gratitude to all of them.

In the first place I would like to record my appreciation for my supervisor, Prof Chintamani Mahapatra, for having immense patience in guiding me over the last seven years (M.Phil). Prof. Mahapatra has been everything that a student dreams of. He has been a mentor, parent, guru and sounding board all rolled into one. He is an amazing supervisor simply because he gives students the freedom to be creative and encourages them to think out of the box. Sir, as I complete my academic life and step into a competitive world, I wish to emulate you!

I gratefully acknowledge the role played by Prof Christopher Raj and Dr. Vijayalakshmi for giving me advice and guidance from the very early stages of this research as well as giving me extraordinary experiences throughout the work. They provided me with unflinching encouragement and support in various ways. Sir and Maam, a huge thank you from the bottom of my heart!

I firmly believe that the Centre for Canadian, United States and Latin American Studies is one of the best in the country. The wonderful environment, infrastructure and encouragement provided to do research is unmatchable. The teachers are extremely cordial, always willing to have a chat and share their vast knowledge and experiences with young academics like me. They are wonderfully supported by a very competent administrative staff consisting of Neelam madam, Rajbir ji and Niresh. It is a pleasure to express my gratitude wholeheartedly to them for facilitating all the administrative work during my time here as a student.

I was extraordinarily fortunate to have had the opportunity to discuss my research work with Ambassador Lalit Mansingh, former foreign secretary and ambassador to the US and Ambassador Salman Haidar, former foreign secretary and ambassador to the UK. Their observations were stimulating and it made me analyse different perspectives on the subject.

I would also like to acknowledge the support of the staff of the American Centre Library, New Delhi, American Embassy, New Delhi, Embassy of Saudi Arabia, New Delhi, Jawaharlal Nehru University Library, New Delhi, Sapru House Library, New Delhi, Teen Murti Library, New Delhi, Institute of Defense and Strategic Analysis,
New Delhi and Institute of Peace and Conflict Studies, New Delhi for allowing me access to various resources and literature during my research.

In my daily work I have been blessed with a friendly and cheerful group of fellow students. My seniors Ramesh Kannegati, Ashok Sharma and Trithesh Nandan who guided me at various stages of my research work using their prior experiences. My batch mates, Jag Pal Balgrover and Siba Mohanty for keeping me motivated and cheerful round the clock. My junior colleagues, Vikas Jha and Ram Rakappan, for constantly supporting me through both good and bad times. It would have been impossible to get through this work without having this group around.

Where would I be without my family? My parents deserve special mention for their inseparable support and prayers. My father, Lokanathan has been the most sensitive and generous person in my world. My mother, Vijayalakshmi, is the one who raised me with her caring and gentle love. In short, I would not be here without their sacrifices.

Finally, I would like to thank everybody who was important to the successful realization of this thesis, while expressing my sincere apology that I could not mention each of them personally here. I take complete responsibility for any factual errors, oversight or grammatical mistakes in this work.

Venkat